NATO Powers Endorse Firm Stand On Berlin

Arms Buildup Asked By Rusk

PARIS (AP)—Members of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance endorsed Tuesday the policy of the big Western powers of standing firm on Berlin and keeping the door open to negotiation with Moscow only "on a reasonable basis."

Speaking on behalf of the major powers, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk reported to a closed session of the NATO council on his weekend conference with his British, French and West German colleagues.

Rusk and other Allied officials evaded all comment on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech Monday night calling for negotiations but insisting on Communist demands.

Lord Home's "Reaction"

There was one possible exception to this no comment policy. Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, said negotiation for its own sake would be useless. He did not mention Khrushchevs' speech but may have had it in mind.

Rusk's report included recommendations that allied forces on the continent be brought up to full strength with the addition of perhaps 75,000 to 80,000 men in the near future, and a possible buildup to 30 divisions later on. This is a longtime NATO goal.

An official who attended the session said the council heard Rusk's statement with sympathy. Several members raised questions which the secretary attempted to answer. But council delegates, by the nature of their position as ambassadors, were unable to make any immediate commitment on new expenditures for additional troops.

Early Replies Expected

The same source said council members promised to report back to their governments. Early replies are expected.

The council agreed to consult further on the subject and then reaffirmed the policy adopted by the NATO foreign ministers earlier this year in Oslo. This called for a "peaceful and just" solution of the Berlin and German problems on the basis of self-determination.

Late in the day, Rusk called on French President Charles de Gaulle amid rumors the United States is trying to smooth the dispute between France and Tunisia on the Bizerte naval base.

Proxmire Still Going Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. held the floor Tuesday through the second day of a long speech against President Kennedy's nomination of a former Texas oil man to the Federal Power Commission.

He yielded for long stretches to other speakers, however, and was able during one respite to have a lunch of scrambled eggs and skimmed milk in the Senate cloakroom.

Proxmire said he was not filibustering, just going on record against what he termed a "shocking" move to give the oil and gas interests "their own boy on the power commission."

The nominee whose confirmation he opposes is Lawrence J. O'Connor Jr. of Houston, who has been serving as oil import administrator in the Interior Department.

"Appointing this man to the power commission," Proxmire told a meager Senate audience, "is stacking the deck, loading the dice against the householder whose gas bills are rising steadily year after year."

West Berlin Refugee Flow Near Record

2,021 Register In 24-Hour Period, Highest Since '53

BERLIN (AP) — Refugees flowed into West Berlin from East Germany Tuesday at the highest rate in eight years despite new Communist police measures to seal off the escape hatch to freedom.

What effect Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech on Berlin had on the refugees was not clear. But it was obvious that Khrushchev's firm insistence on gaining Communist control of the Western access routes to Berlin did little to encourage them to remain in East Germany.

2,021 Register

During the 24 hours that ended at 8 a.m. Tuesday, 2,021 refugees had registered in West Berlin, the highest number since May 28, 1953, when 3,973 were registered just before the East German revolt against the Communists.

There were reports of Communist police prowling East Germany in disguised radio cars, of stricter checks at the city limits, and of new Communist rules limiting trips to the capital.

Information Bureau West said that at Schoenfeld, on the southeast city limits, the border police unit was increased to 65 men and 15 plainclothesmen are on constant street patrol with walkie-talkie radios hidden in their cars.

The private West Berlin intelligence agency also reported the Communists are still sentencing people to jail for "preparing illegal flight" or encouraging others to go.

Reds Remind Jobholders

Placards also were going up in East Berlin and neighboring towns under Red rule, reminding people with jobs in West Berlin they must register with the Communists or face jail sentences.

The Communists protested when Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin city government proposed giving them some of their own medicine. It ordered a check to prevent Communist supporters from taking advantage of the wage fund that compensates West Berliners who work in East Berlin for the low pay they get from the Communists.

Refugees Swamp West Berlin

Women and children from East Germany sit outside Marienfelde camp for refugees in West Berlin yesterday amid possessions taken in every which way from the Communist-controlled zone. The day's count of refugees hit 2,021, highest daily total in eight years, West Berlin officials said. The actual number fleeing yesterday may be much higher since many people did not register immediately. (AP Photofax via radio from Berlin)

Steps To Deter Sky Crime Get Senate Unit OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing stiff new penalties for crime in the skies sped through the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., committee chairman, told newsmen he hoped the measure could be brought up for action in the Senate this week.

Both measures were spurred along by last Thursday's hijacking of a Continental airliner near El Paso, Tex., and other similar incidents in recent weeks.

The maximum punishment specified for a variety of crimes in the Senate bill would be life imprisonment. Two House members, Reps. August E. Johansen, R-Mich., and Robert W. Hemphill, D-S.C., advocated the death penalty for aerial hijacking.

The Senate committee took no action on a capital punishment proposal advanced by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

As unanimously approved by the committee, the Senate bill provides that the hijacking of an aircraft in flight in air commerce shall be treated the same as piracy on the high seas. This carries a mandatory penalty of life imprisonment.

A committee aide told newsmen, however, the Justice Department interprets this clause as covering only cases occurring outside the three-mile limit along the nation's coastlines.

There is another section providing that a life sentence can be imposed on anyone who, using a deadly weapon, assaults, threatens or intimidates a flight crew member. However, the life sentence under this section is permissive, not mandatory. The minimum sentence provided is 20 years imprisonment.

Morton Backs JFK Aid Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's long-range foreign aid program got support Tuesday from a prominent Republican senator and an optimistic report from House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

It will emerge from Congress in "pretty good shape," Rayburn predicted after he and other Democratic leaders conferred with President Kennedy at breakfast.

It may be amended before it clears the House and Senate, Rayburn conceded, but he maintained "I don't think fundamentally it will be too much hurt."

Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky, former GOP national chairman, gave the program his support, noting it was "identical in principle" to what former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had advocated.

Kennedy is seeking authority to borrow from the Treasury to finance a five-year $8.8-billion loan program to aid struggling new nations. He wants to put this foreign aid on a long-range planning basis.

Buchman, Pa. Pastor Who Founded MRA, Dead At 83

FREUDENSTADT, Germany (AP)—Dr. Frank Buchman, the Pennsylvania pastor who founded the Moral Re-Armament Movement and spread its ideas over much of the world, is dead at the age of 83.

He succumbed to a heart attack Monday night in this Black Forest town where he conceived MRA.

Its ideals, centering around Dr. Buchman's beliefs that God could rule the world through direct communication with men, attracted hundreds of thousands of followers. In some areas it became controversial, with critics asserting Dr. Buchman held a naive belief in the power of faith toward worldly affairs.

Peter Howard, 52, a British author and journalist, announced the death Tuesday to more than a thousand shocked followers at MRA world headquarters in Caux, Switzerland.

The leader of the movement had named no successor publicly. The choice of Howard to make the announcement indicated he might be chosen for leadership.

During a stay here in 1938, Dr. Buchman wrote later, he strolled to Kienberg Hill and got the idea of MRA as an organized movement. His path now is called Frank Buchman Lane, and his followers will hold a memorial procession there before funeral services here Friday.

Titov Says He Took Controls When Landing

MOSCOW (AP) — Maj. Gherman Titov, an ex-chauffeur who gets a huge Red Square welcome for soaring through man's longest ride, said Tuesday he manned controls of his two-ton space ship aloft and in landing.

"When I had the control of the space ship in my hands I felt like the real pilot," he said in an interview with the government newspaper Izvestia. "The first impression of these manual controls was very good."

How much control the Soviet air force pilot actually had and for what period was not indicated in the article. He said the ship easily obeyed the manual controls.

"I was able to orient it in any direction. Also when I was landing I operated the controls."

Titov is believed to be already in Moscow for Wednesday's Red Square celebration. Premier Khrushchev will give a Kremlin reception for the space man later in the day.

In interviews published both in Izvestia and the Communist party newspaper Pravda Titov's version of what he saw out of his space ship's peephole was much similar to that of the first Soviet man in space, Maj. Yuri Gagarin.

"The earth is exceedingly beautiful from that height," Titov said. "I saw an unusual sun and stars — the brightest, unearthly colors."

"Weightlessness does not interfere," Titov said in discussing that aspect of space flight. "It must be said there were no special hindrances."

He said he suffered no ill effects either during or after his 435,000-mile space shot which took him around the globe 17 times in 25 hours and 18 minutes, ending at 10:18 a.m. Monday.

Titov said his spaceship, Vostok II, functioned "fine and in working order—ready—ready for another flight."

Prosecutor Scoffs At Eichmann Claim

JERUSALEM (UPI—Attorney General Gideon Hausner, beginning the prosecution summation of the case against Adolf Eichmann, charged Tuesday that the former Hitler henchman "helped, aided, abetted and planned" the mass murder of 6,000,000 Jews in World War II.

Hausner, whose summation was expected to last until Friday, said that Eichmann, far from being the "small cog" he contends he was in the Nazi machine, had "full charge" of implementing the crimes against the Jews.

Summing up the months-long trial, Hausner referred to Eichmann's reported demands for the use of gas to kill prisoners, and the use of Jews to help in the extermination of other Jews. He also spoke of a visit by Eichmann to the Auschwitz cooncentration camp to provide details about orders to solve the Jewish problem "once and for all."

"Swift Strike"

4,100 Paratroopers In Massive Air Drop

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The 82nd Airborne Division parachuted 4,100 troops and their equipment Tuesday in a stirring exhibition of this nation's most effective forces to combat worldwide brush wars.

Watching the colorful drop in the sand hills section near Camden, S.C., were Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr., and Air Force Secretary Eugene Zukert. Both expressed pleasure over the manner in which the massive air drop was handled.

The jump was the opening of Phase 2 of operation Swift Strike, Army-Air Force maneuvers designed to continue over-all training of STRAC forces, with emphasis on training field commanders and more than 5,000 air reservists and Air National Guardsmen, many of whom are on alert for possible recall to active duty. This came with President Kennedy's decision of last week to swell the Army, Air Force and Marines by 250,000 men in preparedness for a possible showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin.

Men of the 501st, 2nd Airborne Battle Group, were carried over the area by planes of the 434th Troop Carrier Wing, Bakalar Air Force Base, Ind., a reserve unit.

Maj. Gen. Theodore Conway, the 82nd's commanding general, jumped in a later wave.

The exercise assumes that a small foreign nation has been invaded and the United States is rushing STRAC troops to its aid.

Troop carrier planes will fly sorties the entire day Wednesday, moving equipment, supplies and men into the Darlington, S.C., Airport in support of the 82nd. Thursday, the 101st, acting as the enemy, will stage a retaliatory jump.

Stock Markets Inquiry Backed By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed probe of all stock market operations in the country won unanimous approval of the House Commerce Committee Tuesday.

A resolution calling for the investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission with a special fund of $750,000 was sponsored by Rep. Peter F. Mack, D-Ill.

The move still needs House and Senate approval. The SEC has endorsed the idea.

Mack said he suggested the probe because of "widespread evidence of speculation and of apparent manipulation in many instances in our established securities exchanges and in our over-the-counter markets."

The proposed study would include the 13 organized stock markets in the country and over-the-counter trading. The SEC would be directed to report its findings to Congress by Jan. 3, 1963, and make any recommendations for legislation.

Luxury Liner Strikes Whale

The 543 passengers had just been served dinner, when the ship shuddered. People ran on deck.

Seamen reported blood flowed in the wake of the liner.

"I have sailed since 1938, and nothing like this ever happened to me before," the captain said. "Whales usually keep their distance. That whale must have been sick."

Pastor Niemoeller Comes Out Of Coma

AABENRAA, Denmark (AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, German Lutheran pastor who spent eight years in a concentration camp for opposing Hitler's nazification of religion, Tuesday came out of a 24-hour coma resulting from a car accident that killed his wife and housekeeper.

Kennedy Signs Farm Bill; Calls It "Major Step"

WASHINGTON (AP)—A catch-all bill aimed at whittling down costly food surpluses and jacking up farm incomes was signed into law Tuesday by President Kennedy.

"A major step toward a sound agricultural economy and a better life for the farmers of this country," the President called the new program.

But it is not as big a step as Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman wanted.

Missing from the measure was an administration-backed provision to give the secretary authority, subject to veto by Congress and farmers voting in referenda, to draft quota-price programs for individual commodites.

Freeman told a news conference he was somewhat disappointed that Congress did not see fit to grant this authority. But he hailed the new act as the most constructive and promising farm legislation in many years.

Although lacking the broader authority sought by the administration, the new law does authorize programs to tackle the most immediately pressing problem of overproduction and resultant lower prices in three commodity groups—wheat, feed grains and turkeys.

For example, only two weeks ago the Agriculture Department reported wheat reserves and surpluses had jumped seven per cent in the last year to a record 1,406,556,000 bushels.

Agriculture Department officials estimate the acquisition, storage and shipment of surplus wheat has been costing the government $750 million a year and that the new program will reduce this by $50 million.

To deal with the wheat surplus, the new law requires farmers to take some land out of production—enough to cut present planting allotments at least 10 per cent. In return, they'll get government payments equal to 45 per cent of the production value of the retired land.

Tax Subsidy For Young Newlyweds Suggested

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A tax subsidy to young newly married couples was suggested Tuesday.

Thomas P. Monahan, sociologist of the Philadelphia Municipal court, recommended a study of extending federal tax advantages to young newlyweds during the time when their income is likely to be low. His remarks were prepared for a panel discussion at a convention of the American Bar Association.

"The oldsters in our society now have double income tax exemptions," Monahan said. "Why not a similar provision for persons in the first five years of marriage—when the problems of living, adjusting, and supporting children are the greatest?"

Monahan conceded a drastic change in the public's way of thinking would be necessary to smooth the way for such legislation. "Thus far in the United States, marriage legislation has been largely regulatory or prohibitive," he said.

The sociologist said also the nation needs a new system of social bookkeeping—a national register of all marriages and divorces. He recommended all legal recognition be withdrawn from common-law marriages — still recognized in 15 states.

A national register of marriages and divorces, similar to the nation's Social Security record system, could easily be set up, he said. Monahan said such a system would help solve the problem of bigamy.

Fights Follow Guevara Blast In Conference

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Fidel Castro's bewhiskered economic chief accused the United States Tuesday night of plotting assassination in Latin America. He in turn was called an assassin by a shouting anti-Castroite. Fist fights followed at the turbulent session of the inter-American economic and social conference.

The charges and countercharges arose over President Kennedy's multibillion-dollar Alliance for Progress program.

The attack on the program by Cuba's economic minister, Ernesto Guevara, set off fist fights both in and outside the conference hall at this plush resort.

As Guevara finished his violent two hour, 15 minute speech, a bespectacled spectator, identified as Max Azicri-Levy, a member of an anti-Castro revolutionary front, shouted "assassin."

He was hustled outside by two security guards amid a flurry of swinging fists. In the lobby a second fist fight broke out between anti-Castro sympathizers and the guards.

While the man was shouting "assassin," two other Cuban exiles leaped on the stage and shouted insults at Guevara as he walked away.

Police Arrest Three

Azicri-Levy was accredited to the conference as a reporter for the newspaper Avance of Havana, now published in Miami, Fla.

Launching the longest oration of the conference, the khaki-clad Guevara accused the United States of conniving in an assassination plot against Prime Minister Castro's brother Raul, which he said was intended as an excuse for U.S. military action against Cuba.

Also he hinted the United States was implicated in some way in the slaying last May 30 of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, the Dominican dictator.

Guevara also accused President Kennedy of bad faith in the ill-fated anti-Castro invasion of Cuba last April, which he called a "pirate attack."

He ridiculed the Alliance for Progress plan as a scheme to give "latrines" to the poor and said the United States was "pulling the legs" of the delegates.

"Cuba is the golden egg hen," he said. "While Cuba is there, the United States is ready to give."

"A little push," he added, and Latin America would get the $30 billion in aid Castro had suggested two years ago. The figure of $20 billion in U.S. aid has been mentioned here by American delegates.

Draws Largest Crowd

Guevara drew a standing-room-only crowd, largest of the conference, as he rose dramatically and began his off-the-cuff speech. Other delegates had remained in their seats while delivering carefully prepared texts.

He drew applause in a left-handed way, once when he declared "naturally we respect private property" in Cuba, and again when he sided with some delegates who oppose a hemispheric information agency to publicize the Alliance for Progress plan. Guevara said the purpose of the agency was the "regimentation of thought and, if possible, preparation of military aggression against Cuba."

Guevara denounced the whole conference—called to implement a 50-year development plan for Latin America—as a political maneuver aimed against Cuba and against "the example Cuba is setting for all Latin America."

"I dissent in the name of Cuba from almost all the affirmations thus far made here," he declared.

He then swung into his violent attack, charging that "antirevolutionary groups from Guantanamo," the U.S. naval base in

Smooth-Operating Gunmen Loot Bank

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—In an 11-hour operation carried out without a hitch, three gunmen looted the First West Side Bank, in suburban Omaha Tuesday of a satchel-full of cash—the loss may run more than $50,000—and disappeared.

A bank officer said the loss probably would run to more than $50,000. The FBI said, prior to an audit, that the loot might be in the neighborhood of $20,000 to $40,000. A bank spokesman said the audit was incomplete.

Bomb Shelters Available For $50-$125 Per Person

WASHINGTON (AP)—Experts testified Tuesday that a high degree of protection against nuclear blast, fire and radiation can now be bought for a cost of between $50 and $125 per person.

Associate Director Walmer E. Strope of the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory based these cost and safety estimates on four years of testing.

He told the House Military Operations subcommittee that group shelters might eventually be mass produced to protect 100 people for 14 days for less money.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the group inquiring into the administration's new civil defense program, introduced Strope as an "outstanding shelter expert."

The Navy official was supported by Norman A. Hanunian, specialist of the Rand Corp., which has conducted extensive nuclear warfare studies for the Defense Department.

Hanunian estimated that enemy delivery of 600 weapons each yielding the explosive equivalent of five million tons of TNT might kill about 60 per cent of the unprotected U.S. population.

Fatalities would drop to about 45 per cent if efficient use were made of ordinary basement shelters, Hanunian said, and could drop to as low as five per cent if specially constructed shelters were available and people knew how to use them.

The shelters tested by Navy and Civil Defense specialists are flexible steel arch structures 25 feet wide, 48 feet long and covered by several feet of earth.

Depending on their location, Strope said, they would withstand blast pressure of from 10 to 35 pounds a square inch. He related this to sudden pressures of about five pounds per inch that would demolish most dwellings.

Most sparsely settled county in the United States is Armstrong County in South Dakota. It contains 15 ranches averaging about 19,000 acres in size.

Foes Of Atomic Public Power Win New Round

The vote was 235-164, with 81 Democrats and 154 Republicans favoring the instruction and 155 Democrats and 9 Republicans opposing it.

This reaffirmed the earlier refusal of the House to authorize $95 million for modification of the Hanford project, which is now designed only to produce plutonium for bombs and missiles.

Approved by the Senate as part of a $400-million Atomic Energy Commission authorization, the public power provision had been knocked out by the House July 13 on a 178-140 nonrecorded vote.

Also added to the bill by the Senate was a $5-million atomic coal research program.

The administration favors the Hanford power item. Private power and coal interests oppose it.

One of the House conferees who will meet with a similar Senate group to iron out differences between the Senate and House versions of the AEC authorization is Rep. James Van Zandt, R-Pa. He led the floor fight against the Hanford power provision.

The other House members are Reps. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., and Melvin Price, D-Ill., principal supporters of the provision.

Bandit Flees With $12,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — A lone bandit escaped with $12,000 in cash Tuesday after holding up two women tellers outside a downtown branch office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Police said the tellers, Miss Marion Cain and Mrs. Elsa Ramsey, were on their way to a nearby bank to make a deposit when the bandit approached them.

After asking for the office manager, the women said, the man flashed a long-barrelled revolver and took an envelope from Mrs. Ramsey containing the cash.

The robber returned to Miss Cain an envelope containing an unindisclosed amount of checks.

"Now don't hurry back (into the office)," the bandit told the tellers. "I've got a car waiting outside." He then fled.

Police launched a search for a white man, about 28 years old, with blond hair and wearing sun glasses and an Ivy League suit. He was about 6-2 and 180 pounds, the holdup victims said.

The holdup occurred just before 1:30 p.m. Police said only a few persons were in the office at the time.

Space Radiation "Map" Devised By Scientists

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—A map that will enable astronauts to dodge dangerous radiation in outer space has been devised experimentally by space scientists at the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Carl McIlwain, an associate of Dr. James Van Allen, discoverer of the Van Allen belts that circle the earth, told about the "magnetic shell coordinates" at a conference of space scientists Tuesday.

The radiation count of the inner Van Allen belt, centered about 2,000 miles above the earth, has been found to vary in intensity in a heretofore unpredictable fashion.

Unshielded Geiger counters in artificial satellites have measured from 10 to 10,000 protons a second in the inner belt.

That means that scientists have been unable to tell an astronaut what dosages of radiation he would receive while passing through the belt, McIlwain said.

With respect to the geographical position of the earth, these particles follow an erratic pattern, shifting in position and density as they literally spiral along lines of magnetic force.

Any prediction on the radiation that could be encountered by man at any given point in the belt could be thrown off by a factor of 10 to 1,000, the scientist said, if the prediction was based on geographical coordinates.

McIlwain said he had worked out an experimental system over the past year using magnetic coordinates, based on surface study of the earth's magnetic field and on observed radiation data as gathered by the Explorer IV satellite.

Using the magnetic system, a particle is found to behave in a stable, predictable fashion, moving within a three-dimensional "shell" as it orbits the earth.

This "straightening out" of the distorted magnetic field into regular coordinates does interesting things to the familiar latitude and longitude lines of earth, too, McIlwain indicated.

From the magnetic viewpoint, the earth appears distorted from its circular shape into a kind of wave-shaped body, he said.

Cuba, lay in wait for Raul Castro, the commander of the armed forces, at two places, "to kill him."

Guevara said the plotters intended to attack Raul as he traveled from his home to a parade on July 26, the day Cuba celebrated the eighth anniversary of Castro's revolutionary movement. Raul spoke at Santiago in eastern Cuba that day. The plotters, he said, intended to dynamite the speaker's stand if they failed to kill him en route.

"And a few hours later North American mortars would start bombarding the base at Guantanamo Bay. Then the United States would be compelled to defend the base," Guevara said, explaining that the plot was intended as a cover for an American attack.

He said such a plot had been discovered by Cuban security agents.

House Votes To Lend Destroyer To Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House authorized the President Tuesday to lend 16 destroyers to friendly nations to bolster anti-submarine defenses throughout the world.

The bill, continuing a program that has been in effect since 1953, passed by a voice vote. It now goes to the Senate.

Three Divisions Get Combat-Ready Orders

The Army's announcement said that three divisions — the 1st and 2nd Infantry and 2nd Armored—will be reorganized into regular combat divisions.

Missile Silo Door Falls; Five Killed

DENVER (UPI) — Army engineers Tuesday pondered how to safely remove the 116,000-pound concrete and steel slab which fell Monday at the Titan missile launching site near here and killed five workmen.

Two bodies, both unidentified, were under the 58-ton slab late Tuesday. The other three victims were Jerry E. Brancio, 22, Denver; George Graham, 55, Aurora, Colo., and Lacy Calvin Wareheim, 34, Seattle, Wash.

Eight other workmen were injured. But only two remained hospitalized Tuesday.

Top level officials of the ballistics systems division were participating in the investigation of the accident. It occurred at the first of a Titan three-site complex being constructed on the Colorado plains, 20 miles east of Denver. Each site will have a capacity of six missiles.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5
Showing off is second nature to a toddler, but actually a bit of hamacting isn't entirely bad. It often helps develop self-confidence and social poise. However, when it goes beyond the limits of self-expression and high spirits, it's a good idea to distract your little entertainer with some quiet play.

Little appetites are always better off when you set a toddler's table with Gerber Junior Foods. Why? Because the flavors are luscious, the colors sing and the texture is properly minced for tots with teeth. Like Gerber Strained Foods, they're specially processed to preserve true flavors and the utmost in nutritive values.
Little appetites tend to taper off at about the end of the first year, because baby's rate of growth slows down considerably. Naturally he doesn't need the amount of food he needed during the first year. Good way to keep your toddler's appetite bright — serve something new in the way of a taste surprise.
New flavor surprise for the light of your eyes: Gerber Junior Spaghetti, Tomato Sauce and Beef. Tender, enriched spaghetti teams up with bits of juicy beef and savory tomato sauce. So "grown-up" good you won't have a bit of trouble tempting your tyke.
Cheer-up Dept. Does baby have a fussy spell about the same time every day? If so, it often helps to shift bathtime to this cranky time. Water is a wonderful relaxer as well as a distraction.
New, for you! Now, most Gerber Baby Foods come in wide-top jars with Quick-Twist* caps and "Shop-Easy" labels. The caps twist off or on with a quick quarter turn. The new labels speed shopping time, make selection a cinch because the variety name is at the top. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Mich. *T.M.

Favorable Rating Brings Refund In Insurance Bill

A representative of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss the experience rating of the county's life insurance and disability insurance group policy.

Jack Simonton, Baltimore, informed the board that through an office mixup of the insurance firm a check for $2,817.25 in insurance premium refund had not been made in June. He said that the county's disability insurance experience rating had been so favorable that the refund was being made. He had the check with him.

Simonton also reported that due to a four per cent interest which had been earned by the reserve fund credited to the county that it now totals $8,100. This is sufficient for the fund, he added.

Simonton suggested that the county commissioners may be interested in increasing the life insurance coverage on county employes by $500 or $1,000 in view of the recent favorable experience rating in that category of insurance.

The board told Simonton that this would be considered for action in the near future.

Group Requests Road Repairs

A group of residents on Winner Lane at Frostburg appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to request that the lane be oiled and chipped.

The matter was referred to County Commissioner John J. Rowan and Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, for investigation.

Highway Work Advances In West Virginia

Two road jobs in nearby West Virginia have been advertised for bids by August 22, while two other sizeable projects have been awarded by the West Virginia State Roads Commission.

W. J. Galloway, District 9 engineer at Keyser, said that the Terra Alta Limestone Company, of Aurora, Preston County, has been awarded the contract for resurfacing of West Virginia 522 a distance of 6.5 miles from the Virginia line towards Berkeley Springs. The cost is $77,432.

General Paving Company of Morgantown was given the job of resurfacing West Virginia Route 42 from its intersection with W. Va. Route 28 at Petersburg, northwards to Maysville.

The cost of the 9.9-mile project is $129,587., Galloway reported.

On August 22, the SRC in Charleston will open bids on two jobs.

One will be the road change and bridge at Needmore in Hardy County. This contract was originally let to Joseph Burford of Charleston on July 25, but was withdrawn when the specifications did not call for an access road around the .65 mile project.

The other will be a three-mile stretch of West Virginia Secondary Route 8 extending south from U. S. 50 at Romney along the South Branch. This is called the River Road and leads to the Peterkin Conference Center.

City Files Demurrer To Suits

William R. Carscaden, city attorney, has filed a petition in Circuit Court demurring from two suits filed against the City of Cumberland over the police pension fund and also requesting a bill of particulars.

The suits were brought by George Furstenberg, a former city police officer, and Mrs. Bertha May Snyder, widow of Officer John Snyder, in which they are seeking a refund of monies paid into the pension fund.

In his demurrer and request for a bill of particulars, Carscaden states that there is no provision in the pension fund for refunds and that monies are paid out only to police officers upon retirement.

Furstenberg is residing in St. Petersburg, Fla., and was a member of the police force for several years. Snyder was on the force some years prior to his death in 1959.

The suits brought by the two plaintiffs were filed for them by Donald W. Mason, local attorney.

Firm, Union Plan Meeting

Officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, are planning another meeting with labor relations representatives of Celanese Fibers Company as a result of a situation that has resulted in the Extrusion (Spinning) Department.

James Stewart, union president, said meetings were held by members of the department committee at Textile Hall Friday with Wesley Cook, Washington, director of the TWUA Synthetic Yarn Division.

Later Cook and union officials met with company representatives in regards to a workload dispute in spinning.

Stewart said no details can be released at this time, but it is felt there have been accomplishments as a result of the talks.

Reports on the discussions were made to members of the department at sessions Saturday in Textile Hall.

Joint Session Set By Board, Merit Group

A joint meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and County Civil Service Commission will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Court House.

The session is being held to decide on a number of examinations for county jobs and also to obtain a final decision on the duties of an administrative assistant for the County Civil Defense organization.

This matter has been before the board on numerous occasions and the Civil Service Commission will be asked to hold an examination for the post, based on a classification which has to be determined. The county has been asked to conduct the examination by William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for the county, in order to qualify for matching funds from the state CD organization to help pay for the administrative assistant.

It is also expected that the recent report by the State Employment Security Board on a job classification survey conducted for the county board several months ago will be discussed.

School Closing May Result In Legal Action

A committee of parents from the Green Spring area conferred with their attorney yesterday in connection with the forthcoming closing of the elementary school in that community and the transfer of the pupils to Springfield.

William Ansel, attorney for the group, said that a discussion was held on possible court action to seek an injunction to prevent the closing and consolidation of the school with the one in Springfield.

Ansel said he will study the legal aspects of the situation and a decision on whether or not to seek court action will be made Thursday.

The Hampshire County Board of Education voted to close the Green Spring School on the basis of declining school population and a saving of from $12,000 to $15,000 annually. It also stated that better educational facilities would also be available in the Springfield school.

Helps Ease Women Into Their Periods By Releasing Pressure On Sensitive Female Tissues

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical science has developed an astonishing new formula that now does both: calms pre-period tension and nervousness — helps relieve menstrual cramps and pain.

In tests conducted by hundreds of nurses on themselves, many reported nervousness and irritability were calmed. Abdominal bloat, soreness of breasts and fatigue were reduced. Cramps, backache, depression and headache were relieved. So effective is this new medical discovery that Registered Nurses make such statements as, "A great help both before and during menstruation." "Relieves all symptoms." "More effective than other preparations taken — including prescription drugs." All this without narcotics or tranquilizers, and without changing the regularity of the period in any way. Nurses confirm in this test that women actually ease through more comfortable periods.

A secret of this new discovery (called Trendar® Tablets) is the way it releases excess water fluids that doctors know build up in the days before the period. This build-up causes bloat, soreness, pressure on sensitive female tissues. Trendar Tablets work by releasing the excess water fluids so pressure in tissues is relieved and by relieving cramps and pain.

The ingredients in Trendar Tablets are completely safe and effective taken as directed. Trendar Tablets are available at all drug counters without prescription.

County Seeks Bids For Annex Porch

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners will receive bids until 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, August 22, for a new porch on the library annex building opposite the Court House on Washington Street.

No bids were received some weeks ago on a similar proposal and the specifications were changed to make the project of lesser cost and size.

When Commissioner John T. Mason, who is on the library board of trustees asked that bids be requested it brought an inquiry from Commissioner John J. Rowan on the financing of the project. Rowan asked if the library board had money in its budget for the work.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon said he was not familiar with the proposal. Rowan suggested that Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, check into the responsibility for repairs or changes in the building.

Arundel Police Draw Criticism In Negroes' Case

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Anne Arundel County police were accused Tuesday of "undiplomatic and unjust conduct" in the treatment of Negro prisoners arrested Sunday in a Glen Burnie restaurant.

Meanwhile, Gov. Tawes was asked to call the Maryland Legislature into special session to pass a bill which would require service of all persons in places of public accomodation.

Dr. Theodore H. Johnson Jr., president of the county chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, claimed one of the three Negroes arrested in the Glen Burnie disturbance was held in jail from 12:20 p.m. Sunday to 5:30 p.m. Monday without being fed or given phone privileges.

Johnson made the charges in a telegram to police chief Wilbur C. Wade and demanded an investigation.

Wade said the Negroes, all from Philadelphia, "were shown the courtesy given to anyone brought in and charged. We were exceptionally nice to them."

He said he knew of no instance where one of them was not fed or given phone privileges and said he would "welcome an investigation into the case by any group."

The three — Louis Williams; his wife, Adell; and stepson, Ernest J. Frederick — were fined $100 each on disorderly conduct and assault charges Monday at a hearing before Magistrate Ralph C. Boyd in Ferndale.

They were involved in a disturbance which began after they were denied service at the Hiway Restaurant in Glen Burnie.

Their attorney, Jauanita Jackson Mitchell, said the convictions would be appealed.

Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the Maryland NAACP, sent telegrams to President Kennedy and Gov. Tawes concerning the incident.

The telegram to Tawes urged him to call a special session of the legislature to enact a public accomodations bill. The one to Kennedy requested his support.

Tawes was attending a fair in Hagerstown and was not immediately available for comment. Aides said he had not seen the telegram.

State Police said Reckords' car was traveling east on Maryland 362 in Somerset County, failed to stop for a sign and collided with the truck.

Byrd's Water Carnival Plans Stir Controversy

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The prospect of an all-new Chesapeake Bay water carnival and its relationship to the existing Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair stirred considerable controversy Tuesday.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, announced plans for the water extravaganza last week and said the first one would be held in Cambridge next summer. Thereafter, Byrd said, the carnival would alternate between Cambridge and Annapolis.

The annual Fishing Fair would be held during the carnival and as one of its attractions, Byrd said.

Byrd's statement evoked immediate response from officials of the Fishing Fair Association who said they had not been consulted on any such plans.

State Sen. Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, joined the voices in opposition and said the fisheries commission should "stick to their Tidewater Fisheries business."

Byrd said nobody ever "proposed doing away with the Fishing Fair" and "nobody's ever said Fishing Fair officials have approved it or anything of the kind."

Byrd said the idea for a water carnival actually initiated in a conversation with two fishing fair officials on methods of improving the annual event.

". . . You mentioned to me some ideas you had on this subject but this subject has not been discussed by Fishing Fair officials and several have phoned expressing astonishment at your premature announcement." Chambers' telegram said.

Byrd said the idea was to hold the Fishing Fair in connection with the water carnival, not to eliminate it.

The Fishing Fair has been held annually since 1936, with time-out during the war years, at various points throughout the state. The TFC's proposed water carnival would include all kind of acquatic events, featuring some of the nation's top performers, in addition to the Fishing Fair competitions.

Tawes Cautions IBEW Strike

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes Tuesday asked the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers not to interfere with negotiations between a striking local and metropolitan Baltimore area contractors.

In a telegram to Gordon Freemen, international president of the IBEW, Tawes said:

"I have just met with members of Local 28 and a representative of the contractors. The present dispute between Local 28 and the Maryland electrical contractors in my judgment is a local matter and should be negotiated without outside interference."

The IBEW, the parent union, has attempted to disenfranchise 1,400 local members for allegedly striking without first obtaining permission from the international organization.

The IBEW's attempts to expel Local 28 has been halted temporarily by a restraining order issued in U.S. District Court.

Tawes expressed concern about the effect of the 51-day old strike.

The walkout, he said, has halted progress on construction of several public school buildings, a new Department of Motor Vehicles building in Anne Arundel County, the new Mercy Hospital in Baltimore and a dormitory project at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis.

"Shower" Delays Mail Deliveries

CATONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Mail delivery was delayed to a section of this Baltimore County community because of a shower — but not the kind mentioned in the Post Office motto.

Residents of the 100 block Garden Ridge road gave their mailman, Anthony Sapienza of Arbutus, a baby shower Monday in honor of the birth of his first child — a daughter, Antoinette, who was born July 27.

Sapienza was honored on the lawn of Mrs. Thomas Schaeffer. Homemade signs were unfurled: "For your Baby Girl." He was given a mail bag full of baby things, including a stroller, dishes, clothing and other layette items.

Mrs. Earl Nagel explained the unusual feeling for the letter cartier: "He's been so good to everyone in the neighborhood."

Without children in fourteen years of marriage, he seemed to have adopted the whole neighborhood, Mrs. Nagle said.

Sapienza didn't spend too much time at the shower with his wife, Lorraine. He had to finish delivering the mail.

Labor Camp Probe Due

SALISBURY (AP) — The Wicomico County state's attorney says he will confer later this week with Circuit Judge Judge Rex A. Taylor about recalling the grand jury to study procedures at the Poplar Hill labor camp.

State's Atty. Alfred T. Truitt Jr. said he would discuss with the jurist a recent series of walk-away escapees involving nine inmates of the medium-security prison facility.

Three members of the Wicomico County legislative delegation also have indicated they may initiate an investigation of the camp's operation.

The probes, if undertaken, would be in the wake of the capture of three men who fled the rehabilitation farm near here Sunday. They were taken into custody Monday on Hooper Island where they were hiding in an abandoned house.

Four prisoners walked away from the camp within a week's time earlier, and before that two others escaped. All were recaptured.

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — A new idea under the Hollywood sun, a "talent pool" has been formed by Richard Quine, Blake Edwards and Jack Lemmon who have organized artists and productions associates for the purpose of selecting fresh talent and overseeing its development in the fields of acting, directing and other phases of movie making. The boys certainly chose the right man to head this enterprise—Max Arnow who, for years was head of talent at Columbia Studio and discovered many talented newcomers.

Dick Quine said, "We feel this is a good way of showing our faith in the future of motion pictures and of discovering new faces which we need so badly with the death of so many of our established stars, to say nothing of the age problem."

The French movie is titled "Upstairs Flat" more 'room at the top, I presume and Ray's romance during business hours shooting this musical will be Katrina Valenet. She is one of France's most popular singers and is married to director-producer Ero.

Millions of Americans of Irish descent will be interested to hear that a feature length picture is being planned on the life of St. Patrick, headed by Norman N. Rankow of New York, who obtained financing of $3,000,000, ironically enough from England.

Rankow has approached Hungarian-born Michael Curtiz (who directed "Francis of Assisi") to direct "The Shamrock and The Snake," as the movie is called. Rankow tells Curtiz that the Catholic Film Foundation has agreed, for the first time, to sponsor a commercial film in this one.

Alex Guinness, a Catholic convert, has expressed interest in playing St. Patrick. Although St. Patrick is Ireland's patron saint he was born in France, and there is a school desk he used at the Trappist Monastery near Cannes.

A letter full of chit-chat and news from Munich brings word of some of our favorite Hollywooders and New Yorkers:

"Arlene Francis had two days off 'One, Two, Three' filming in Munich and headed for a very profitable holiday in Biarritz. At the Casino there, she played a hunch - bet 1, 2, 3 - and won herself a bundle of francs.

"Director Billy Wilder calls Arlene 'one-take Francis,' because she invariably completes a scene to his satisfaction the first time.

"Along with her husband, Martin Gabel, Arlene also went to Klosters, Switzerland, to visit Irwin Shaw about future plays. She's been reading dozens of plays and scripts to follow this Wilder picture."

With all this movie-making on foreign shores, there's nothing like having your own interpreter right in your own home. When Van Heflin leaves for Yugoslavia and "Taras Bulba" on Aug. 12th, along goes his own French - Italian translator, his 17-year-old daughter Vana.

Thanks to Van's having made so many pictures abroad when she was younger, Vana speaks both languages fluently. She'll remain with her father in Zagreb for five weeks before returning to Southern California for her sophomore year at Pomona College. But Van won't be lonesome. Francis (Mrs. V) joins him when Vana comes home.

Boy, 12, Accidentally Shot By His Cousin

GERMANTOWN, Md. (AP) — William Harding, 12, accidentally shot in the neck Monday, was described as in serious condition in Suburban Hospital at Bethesda Tuesday.

Police said the boy was shot by a 13-year-old cousin. The older boy, police said, thought a rifle's safety catch was on and playfully pointed the gun at William and pulled the trigger.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	3 ♠	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♥

Declarer almost fell victim to his partner's rose colored bidding today but careful dummy play combined with a favorable lay of the cards enabled him to bring the hand home.

South's three spade bid is not justified by the holding, for such a call even when not vulnerable should be based upon a hand which rates to take about six tricks. His hand merited a jump overcall to two spades which is also a pre-emptive bid.

North's action is disapproved on two grounds. Inasmuch as South has announced a hand containing strictly preemptive values, thoughts of slam should not be seriously entertained. Furthermore, the Blackwood call is not calculated to help North solve anything. If South has an ace there is no assurance that spades are solid, and then surely declarer will be subject to the loss of at least one heart trick. There is the further consideration that a contract of five spades is by no means safe.

West opened the jack of hearts. East took the queen with the ace and returned the four of the suit which declarer won with the dummy's king. At a quick glance it appears that declarer's one hope rests with finding the singleton or doubleton queen of spades with East so that only one trump trick need be yielded. This was unlikely from the bidding and, had declarer proceeded on that basis, the hand would have been set, for East would rise with the ace of trumps and give his partner a heart ruff.

South considered it a better plan to dispose of the heart in his hand. He therefore cashed two rounds of diamonds. The third one was ruffed by East with the queen of spades and declarer overruffed. A club to the ace then put dummy in to lead another diamond. East ruffed with the ace and South discarded his last heart. On the heart return, South was now able to ruff high and draw West's trumps, bringing home his contract.

Sewage Plant Costs Explained To Rotarians

FROSTBURG — Arthur Gibson, comptroller for the City of Cumberland, told Frostburg Rotary Club at their meeting this week of financing and problems the City of Cumberland encountered when their sewage disposal plant was planned and built.

Gibson said that in 1950 the Water Pollution Control Commission directed the City of Cumberland to proceed on a report of the pollution of the Potomac River. They were then instructed to draw up plans for a sewage disposal plant and proceed with it's erection immediately.

The Housing and Home Financing Department of the Federal Government offered to finance surveys and plannings with the cost to be paid back after construction started. When the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company located in Cumberland there remained no question in the city fathers minds but to build the plant, he said. Home owners pay for disposal of sewage through a 75 per cent added charge to their water bills.

It was pointed out that if Frostburg would erect a plant as planned in the late '50's it would cost water users almost double their water bills if paid for on the same plan as Cumberland.

Mayor Joseph James who attended the meeting spoke briefly and said Council is investigating every type of sewage disposal in order to find the type suitable for Frostburg at a minimum charge. Federal and state aid is now available and would defray almost half of the cost. Mayor James also stated that Regester Associates of Baltimore had been retained to study and to present some plan to Frostburg in the near future.

Harry Ort was program chairman for the evening and introduced Mr. Gibson. Other visitors included city commissioners, William Goebel and Herbert Loar; William Vogtman, city clerk; Captain William Root, a native of Frostburg now attending the General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth; Tim O'Connor, Lonaconing; Theodore Bell, Cumberland; and John Ives, Frostburg, of Kaiser Aluminum Company.

Frostburg Seeks Answer To Runaway Truck Problem

FROSTBURG — A large group of citizens attended last night's City Council meeting to ask that additional action be taken by the State Roads Commission or State Police to regulate heavy truck traffic on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain.

Mayor Joseph James informed the delegation that he had written the local SRC engineer, John D. Bushby, suggesting several regulations he though would be effective. A letter from Bushby said he forwarded the message to George Lewis, chief of the Maryland Traffic Bureau.

James also pointed out that earlier in the evening an eastbound heavily loaded trailer coal truck crossed over the hill on West Main Street at Lemmert's Alley in low gear. The driver applied his brakes and found that they were not holding. He curbed the truck with no damage to the truck or property.

Ralph M. Race, chairman of the local Traffic Safety Committee, said the only reason there was no damage to other cars was that none were parked at that particular spot However, because the driver was observing the law and had his truck under control, an accident was averted.

Race also stated that his committee had received 128 written suggestions from all over the nation following the runaway accident in which five persons were killed.

James, in summing up the discussion, stated that safety on the mountain depended upon the cooperation of the driver of the truck in using proper caution. Until vehicle operators can be made to realize this by strict enforcement, he added, accidents would continue. It was finally decided that until the SRC builds a by-pass around Frostburg the danger will continue to exist.

Other council business included the reading and passing of an ordinance closing an unnamed alley south of Park Avenue between Beall Street Extended and Maple Street Extended, and Maple Street Extended to be used for the expansion of Frostburg State Teachers College. A public hearing will be held September 18 in City Hall.

A Commission was appointed to hear property owners adjacent to the alley and street in case of any damages. The group includes Harry Shupe, William Lemmert and Francis Plummer. William Wilson, acting city attorney, presented the ordinance to council.

Donations of $250 to the Little League and $75 to the Pony League were authorized.

Richard Sluss, president of the Mountain City Bowmen, asked permission for his club to build an archery range on city property at Piney Run Dam. He was informed that permission would be granted. Safety signs will be erected and insurance taken out to protect the club and the city in case af any accidents.

Maurice Lee, Maple Street, asked for better law enforcement to prevent speeding on Maple Street in front of his property. William Fuller said his company is planning a new housing development south of Frostburg and requested an extension of the city water line to the property.

Probationray periods for Police Officers James C. Pfaff and Edward V. Bevan expired, and both were appointed to permanent positions of patrolmen. Probationary periods for Sgt. James Bucklew and Assistant Chief Leslie Bevan also expired, and both were advanced permanently to their rank.

Fire Damages Dwelling On Wempe Drive

During the past two days firemen from South End station answered three calls including a dwelling fire and grass fire.

At 11:09 a. m. yesterday they were called to the intersection of Montreal Avenue and Ontario Street when Box 69 was pulled. They said a grass fire between Fourth Street and Quebec Avenue was out on arrival.

On Monday at 11:30 p. m. the firemen were called to 23 Wempe Drive, where a fire broke out in the upstairs of a two-story frame dwelling occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Holshey, who were not at home.

Neighbors attempted to extinguish the blaze with a garden hose but the flames got out of control. It was reported that the inside of two bedrooms and bath as well as furnishings and clothing were damaged by the blaze.

Firemen said the blaze ate its way through a partition into a hallway. Considerable water damage was reported on the first floor. The home is said to be covered by insurance.

Firemen were on the scene about an hour and used a booster line to extinguish the fire of undetermined origin.

At 2:10 a. m. yesterday the firemen were recalled to the same address when it was believed smoke was coming from the house.

Firemen said they tossed a mattress from the bedroom to the outside of the dwelling.

Will Meet Friday

A report on the picnic will be given and a nomination committee will be named for the election of officers next month. Refreshments will be served.

Lion In Parked

Finally, about noon, Richard Flynn returned from lunch to claim both the Cadillac and the lion. While police held back a crowd of about 300, Flynn explained he is an animal trainer from Overland, Mo., and that he had raised the 16-month-old male lion, whose name is King Kado.

With Flynn was Bon Bon Bass, 25, of the Bronx. She used to make a living by inserting her head in the lion's mouth. She and Flynn split up, however, and the luncheon date was arranged to talk over a proposition that she resume putting her head in Kado's mouth. Apparently, no firm decision was reached.

Flynn insisted it wasn't unusual to park Kado with the Cadillac. But police found it unusual enough to hand Flynn two summonses—for violating the health code and for bringing a wild animal into the city. For good measure, the parking lot was ticketed for allowing such an animal to utilize its facilities.

Flynn and his lion are scheduled to open Aug. 14 at the Cumberland, Md., fair. Said Flynn by way of final reassurance to the crowd: "He's as docile as any human being."

Kado just lolled in the back seat of his Cadillac and purred.

Meetings Set For School Bus Drivers

Three in-service training meetings for bus contractors and drivers who transport Allegany County public school children to and from classes will be held the latter part of this month.

J. Hubert Radcliffe, supervisor of transportation in county public schools, said yesterday the meetings will be held on Tuesday, August 29 at Flintstone School; August 30 at West Side School; and August 31 at Valley High in Lonaconing. Meeting time will be 7 p.m., he said.

The purpose of the meetings, said Mr. Radcliffe, is to acquaint and remind each bus contractor and driver of state law requirements for bus drivers, state automobile laws, qualifications and responsibilities of drivers, operational regulations and practices.

Letters on the "importance of the school bus driver" and notification of the three meeting dates, time and places have been mailed to bus contractors and drivers, Mr. Radcliffe said.

A state trooper will attend each meeting to discuss highway safety, rules and regulations pertaining to the drivers.

Another important topic of discussion will be a program on the evacuation of school children from buses.

Earlier this summer bus evacuation was outlined at a supervisors' workshop held at the University of Maryland, sponsored by the State Department of Education.

Mr. Radcliffe, who attended, said various other projects including a driver's handbook, administrative and general duties of a driver were discussed.

Some of Mr. Radcliffe's ideas were incorporated in an evacuation program which includes suggestions by other supervisors throughout Maryland.

Mr. Radcliffe said that during the workshop Wesley Pickle of Tennessee led a discussion on the emphasis now being placed on school bus transportation through the nation.

One tragic incident which drives home the need for a bus evacuation program was the fatal school bus-passenger train accident September 10, 1959 when seven public school children lost their lives and 11 were hospitalized in a crash on the B&O Railroad crossing at Mountain Lake Park.

Airman Reports Flying Object

Airman Rance Nethken reported spotting an unidentified flying object in the sky which he observed Monday night through a telescope at his home, 733 Hill Top Drive.

The airman said the object had a magnitude of minus 1.5 and was traveling from west to northeast. He estimated the speed of the object at about 20,000 miles per hour and said it was about 1,000 miles high. It was visible for about 10 minutes.

Windows Are Broken

Police received a complaint yesterday that a number of windaws had been broken at Grace Baptist Church, 213 Greene Street. Officer Clarence Valentine is investigating.

Local Resident Is Hurt When Car Rams Tree

Joseph Madden, 31, of 194 North Centre Street, is reported "resting comfortably" at Miners Hospital in Frostburg where he was admitted early yesterday with injuries sustained in a one-car accident in that community.

Frostburg City Police officers Karl Hetz and James Pfaff said Madden was injured when his car rammed into a tree at 1:30 a. m. on East Main Street.

Police said the Cumberland man was traveling west on Main Street when he smashed into a large tree on the property of Arch Davis. The vehicle then veered across Main Street and came to rest in the yard of Mrs. Paul Carpenter, 277 East Main Street.

Police said when the auto smashed the tree the 12-inch trunk was broken off about three feet from the ground.

Members of the Frostburg Fire Department were summoned to the scene to wash down the area.

Court Probates Two Wills

Two wills were probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Mrs. Constance Eisentrout, who was an 85-year-old resident of Midland at the time of her death July 31. A son, Earl Kroll, Midland, qualified as executor under a $500 bond.

The estate was divided equally among her three children, Earl and John Edward Kroll, both of Midland, and Mrs. Sylvia Kroll Little, Painesville, Ohio. The will was dated April 14, 1960.

Also probated yesterday was the will of Charles J. McDonald, Sr., who was a 68-year-old resident of 629 McMullen Highway, Bowling Green, at the time of his sudden death August 2.

Attorney Earl E. Manges qualified as executor of the estate under a $1,00 bond. All of the estate was left to Mr. McDonald's son, Charles J. McDonald Jr., Bowling Green, when he reaches the age of 25. This will was dated September 3, 1952.

New Mathematics Approach Urged

It has been proposed that the teaching of mathematics in high schools be drastically revised to bring that subject into the 20th century.

The proposer is Prof. Howard F. Fehr, head of the department of the teaching of mathematics at Teachers College, Columbia University. He spoke as one of a group of mathematicians from 17 countries who have been studying the question.

Professor Fehr says the schools are teaching the mathematics that was taught 200 years ago. He urges, for example, that the strict Euclidean approach to geometry be eliminated as obsolete.

The emphasis, he declares, should be placed on the building of mathematical concepts, on structure, and on understanding.

Mathematics as it is usually taught in high schools is a dull subject that students, other than those with special aptitudes for it, try to avoid. More and more students are choosing other courses — except mathematics courses required for college entrance. Mathematics, indeed, has become a dead subject no more attractive to the average high school student than Latin.

The idea that Latin and higher mathematics, while not really useful to most students, provide excellent mental training and discipline merely serves to drive away many students.

Yet mathematics can be the most fascinating of subjects when properly integrated with physics and when its applicability to modern technological society can be demonstrated to the pupil.

A new program would involve the retraining of mathematics teachers and the production of new books, so it would be years before it could be put into general use. Certain mathematics teachers, especially those who make the present type of mathematics an uninteresting chore, are sure to fight the change.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Mongolia

Cut out of China or Siberia or Turkestan, whichever you choose, is Mongolia. The Mongols have played a curious role in history, suddenly emerging to significance in the 12th Century and conquering much of Europe and Asia and then receding to a small, insignificant collection of tribes. Genghis Khan, who brought the Mongols to power, was born in the region of Lake Baikal. He married the daughter of the chief of Karakorum, where he established his capital. Then he subdued the whole of Mongolia.

In 1211, he began to conquer North China and in due course took the entire country. He also moved westward and conquered Turkestan and the great cities of Khiva, Samarkand and Bokhara. Thus, Genghis Khan not only possessed military power but he accumulated great wealth. He then moved into Persia, the Caucasus and Russia and into India.

Having conquered so much of the world, he returned to Karakorum in 1224 and set himself up as a great ruler but he did not live long.

Modern Mongolia is a large country of 1,367,000 square miles, but its population is small, 2,500,000, and it is likely to remain small because much of Mongolia consists of the Gobi Desert, a land which is useful for cattle and horse grazing but for little else.

When China became a republic, Mongolia was divided into two parts, Outer and Inner. The latter part, closer to China, attracted many Chinese who introduced Chinese methods of agriculture. Urga was the capital of Mongolia and I have been on the Kalgan-Urga Road in my day. It is a land without an excitement.

It is to be noted that although the Chinese are often referred to as a Mongoloid people, they are not Mongols; nor are the Japanese. In fact, the Mongols are closer to the Turkish tribe called the Uigurs who ultimately showed up in Hungary and Finland.

Since the Russian conquest of the Amur region by Muraviev-Amursky (1858), Russia has sought to conquer the whole of Mongolia and Turkestan. One of the earliest wars fought by China against Russia was over the Ili region of Turkestan. The Amur, which became the dividing line between Siberia and China also establishes the historic fact that the Maritime Provinces of Siberia are more Chinese than Russian territory.

There is no natural boundary line between Mongolia and Siberia or Mongolia and Turkestan. Therefore the same peoples are to be found in all these areas. Some of these people are still Shamanistic in religion; most of them are Moslems. The Mongols, up to the conquest by Soviet Russia, were Lamaistic Buddhists; that is, they took their religion from Tibet rather than from China. And as in Tibet, an unusually large number of men and women were monks and nuns and therefore celibates; thus, keeping the population small, averaging about two per square mile. Undoubtedly, this has changed somewhat under the Communists who do not believe in religious restraints. Increased population, however, can only produce famine as the land is not suited for the production of food and there is little or no mineral wealth. Some oil has been found in Chinese territory adjacent to Mongolia but it is not economically significant.

Mongolia is now a state, a satellite of Soviet Russia, functioning as an independent Communist country under the Soviet system. It has produced nothing in recent years to encourage one to believe that it is very different from what it was 30 or 40 years ago when it startled the world as being a source of dinosaur's eggs.

Owen Lattimore, an American who lived in Tientsin and very influential in the State Department, is one of the very few Americans who knows Mongolia. He is in that country now although how he got a passport to go there or what he is doing there is not known—except that Lattimore's presence in Mongolia synchronizes with the State Department's activity in favor of getting Mongolia into the United Nations. Neither Red nor Nationalist China supports the idea of a separate Mongolia, which, historically is a part of China. The admission of Mongolia into the United Nations is a State Department trick to divert attention from the admission of Red China. It is not attracting favorable support in Asia, although Soviet Russia is pleased with the idea.

'Negotiate . . . And We'll Douse The Light'

By Drew Pearson

BERLIN — The people of West Berlin go about their business just as if they were not the diplomatic focal point of the world. You would never guess, from watching them enjoy the Scala Ice Follies or taking their children to the zoo, that 'hey had the slightest concern about the future.

Nevertheless, they have been making quiet preparations. And in case of another Berlin blockade, the city's 2,200,000 people probably could squeak through eight months of existence with little or no help from the outside world.

Burgemeister Franz Amrehn told me about the blockade preparations.

"We have enough coal stored up to last us for one year," he said with quiet pride. "We have enough gasoline and oil to last six months and, with rationing, it could last longer. Oil and gas have been harder to store, because they require expensive storage tanks and we are working with the oil companies to build them.

"As for food, we believe we could last six months easily; with care, considerably longer. We have the ration cards all printed and ready to use on a moment's notice. We are not looking for trouble, but we are ready for it."

Burgemeister Amrehn doesn't get into the headlnies as much as "governing Mayor" Willy Brandt. Amrehn is a member of the Christian Democrat Party to which Chancellor Adenauer belongs. Brandt is a member of the Social Democrat Party and is running against Adenauer in the national elections in September.

"We'll Stay In Berlin"

"We get along pretty well together despite our opposite politics," Amrehn told me. "After all, the defense of Berlin is more important than politics.

"I was born in Berlin, and except for five years fighting in the German Army I have always lived in Berlin. I was wounded on the Russian Front early in the war, but recovered and went back in the Army to defend Berlin as the Russians were entering at the end of the war. By then it was hopeless. It is not hopeless now. We intend to stay in Berlin."

If there is merely an economic blockade of Berlin, Burgemeister Amrehn is probably right. This little oasis of capitalism completely surrounded by Communism probably could survive for a considerable time. Furthermore, it has some other weapons — such as its heavy purchases from East Germany, which Communist leaders have come to rely on.

However, if war does come, it will be another story.

If American forces refuse to accept another Berlin Blockade, and if an armed convoy pushes up the highway to Berlin as President Kennedy has indicated will happen, and if East German forces resist, then all the coal, all the food, all the rationing tickets carefully printed by the West Berliners will mean nothing.

Then it will be up to the U. S. Army in Berlin and American forces elsewhere in West Germany.

Inadequate Arms

There are only 4,300 American troops in West Berlin. They are seasoned, well-trained men. But until recently — and perhaps even now — they are not as well equipped as Castro's army in Cuba. Castro has been getting the most up-to-date weapons the Czech munitions works at Skoda can turn out. Only last month, in contrast, were American troops in Berlin shipped modern M60 machine guns and M14 rifles. Even today, they have not yet received new M60 tanks to replace old-fashioned Patton tanks.

Elsewhere in West Germany, the U. S. Army has five combat divisions. But in East Germany, the Russians have 20 divisions and the East Germans six, while not far away in the Soviet Union, the Red army, 174 divisions strong, spearheaded by 70,000 modern tanks, is described by American generals as "the most powerful and one of the fastest moving armies in the world today."

It would make mincemeat of the 4,300 American troops in Berlin, would humble the five American divisions in West Germany, no matter how courageously and tenaciously they fought.

So the inescapable fact is that any defense of Berlin by the West means nuclear war.

Nuclear war, in turn, means that Berlin this time would probably escape the holocaust it helped create. This time Berlin would not suffer the bashed-in roofs, the ghostly skeletons of once magnificent palaces, the birds roosting in the once ornate bedrooms of court mistresses. For nuclear war would pass over Berlin.

Gen. Curtis Le May has denied the remark he was quoted as making at a Washington dinner table that war would come in December, that it would lay waste Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, and the major cities of Russia, and that it would be over by January 1.

Nevertheless, if there is nuclear war, General Le May's remark was completely accurate.

Spirit Of Revenge Underlying Cause Of Wars

By David Lawrence

IN EUROPE, Aug. 8 — What causes wars? What was the public passion that helped to cause World War I in 1914 and World War II in 1939? Curiously enough, the latest Soviet note to the United States government raises unwittingly the very point that could someday give motivation to World War III.

For underlying the public opinion of France in 1914 was a spirit of revenge aroused by the seizure of her Alsace-Lorraine provinces when German Armies triumphed in 1870. A vengeful feeling kept building up in France for generations thereafter.

Likewise, in 1939, the same spirit of revenge had festered for 20 years inside Germany over the terms imposed after its defeat in 1918. It was this that gave Hitler his chance to rally an embittered people.

Today the Soviet government apparently is not yet aware of what the spirit of revenge can do inside a defeated nation. For the latest Soviet note uses at least a half-dozen times the French word for revenge—"revanche"—in seeking to bolster an argument that really should be turned around.

For wouldn't a divided Germany give the German people in the next several years a constant reminder of their defeat and keep burning the fires of revenge against Russia? France, in contrast, does not fear West Germany but is actually forming an economic and political union with the free government at Bonn.

The Soviet note, however, points out that "militarists and revanchists are again growing strong in Western Germany," and then adds:

"Before everybody's eyes, Western Germany is becoming a seat of war danger in Europe. . . . The bundeswehr (militia) is being trained as an army being formed and designed to wage a rocket-nuclear war. . . . the work of scientific-technical thought conducted in the quiet of studies and laboratories has been placed at the service of the bundeswehr. But it is general knowledge that in our times some laboratories are much more dangerous than military barracks. . . .

"If we multiply the military-material bases of the Federal Republic of Germany by the militarist and revanchist spirit which, like a quarter of a century ago, permeates all spheres of the state and public life, the graveness of the danger created by the present developments in the Federal Republic of Germany will become self-evident. The population of West Germany lives in an atmosphere of rampant revanchist passions."

But the Soviet Union overlooks entirly the deep-seated feeling which arises within any patriotic people when 17,000,000 persons of the same flesh and blood are kept in bondage by a foreign government. All the sympathy which the Soviets profess to have for the colonial peoples in Africa and Asia seems hypocritical when the feelings of a civilized and efficient people like those in Germany are disregarded as they yearn for the restoration of their homeland.

Instead, the Soviet note now attempts to justify a perpetuation of the division of the German people by claiming that East and West Germany are already two different nations — one Communist and the other capitalistic. The note says on this point:

"They (the two Germanys) are separated by deep-going differences in the internal way of life, in other words, by deep-going social differences. To try and counterpoise the slogan of self-determination to the struggle inside a nation for social progress means to juggle with concepts. If we are to speak of the social system, and this is precisely the matter to be discussed, in connection with the formation of two independent states instead of former Germany, both these states have long since made their choice."

And who made the "choice" for them? The Soviet Union stands convicted before the world of having given in our times the biggest single impetus to "revanchism"—the spirit of revenge against Russia — that modern history can record.

The technical and legal points which the Soviet Union offers also as a justification for a separate peace treaty are plainly inaccurate. Separate peace treaties, to be sure, are not in themselves unknown in history because the existence of varying conditions has always been recognized among belligerents. But rarely have a set of allies countenanced or acquiesced in a separate treaty which puts a substantial part of the vanquished territory into the hands of a conquering ally without first obtaining the consent of the victorious partners in the war.

Unfortunately, in this instance, the signing of a separate peace treaty with East Germany would prolong, in effect, a wartime occupation and continue the domination of 17,000,000 German people by a foreign government. It would attempt to cram down their throats a way of living which denies them a voice in their own government or in the kind of economic system under which they would prefer to live.

The situation indeed may someday be ripened for another dictatorship to count on rallying this very patriotic feeling to start a war of revenge against Russia. It would be far better to give the West German Republic the opportunity to foster and develop in East Germany the spirit of democracy and freedom which the Bonn Government has instilled in the people of West Germany since 1945. For this is the best way to build a bridge of friendship and peace across the borders between Germany and the Russian Bloc, so many of whose members would likewise appreciate a chance for self-determination and a truly democratic system of government.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RAINBOW ROADS—City streets of the future may be paved in all colors of the rainbow. The idea is already being experimented with in Washington, D. C., where a section of one street has been paved in bright green asphalt, another in brilliant yellow, and another with a forest green walkway for pedestrians.

The plan has this in mind: streets of the future could be paved in various colors for various lanes of traffic. Instead of a maze of traffic signs and arrows, motorists would be instructed to follow the red lane for the expressway entrances, etc.

Colored roads could also be used to warn motorists they are approaching busy intersections or school or hospital zones, or blind curves or other permanent but not clearly visible road hazards.

INFLUENCE — One of the smaller but politically more important chores of senators is to use their influence to get something from the federal government for a town within their state. Many times this takes the form of plumping for a new post office, or some other public building that is constructed with federal funds.

However, Wyoming's two senators, Gale McGee and J. J. Hickey, are hard at work trying to stop the Post Office Department from building a new building in a town with the picturesque name of Big Horn.

The department wants to build a new structure in the name of efficiency and appearance, but the residents prefer to have the one they now have — in the grocery where it's always been!

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Helen Kane

(Editor's note: Jim Bishop has left for Europe and will write from abroad in about a week. Today's column was written by Helen Kane, who was once the famous Boop-a-Doop girl.)

Dear Jim: I know that your column is not rigged and I will have to write this myself. I think I had better write about something I know about — show business (which there is no biz like).

I never wanted to be anything but an actress and did a lot of amateur plays at school, but I drove the poor nuns crazy. They couldn't understand how I could learn a song in a half hour and memorize a play overnight, but couldn't learn to spell 10 words in a year.

At 13, I got my working papers. My father called them my walking papers. He said the nuns were glad to get rid of me. I tried many jobs, most of them lasting a week. One was packing player piano rolls in little boxes. The great jazz pianists of the day used to come to the factory to make new rolls and sometimes, when the boss was out, I used to stand on a table and sing.

The boss caught me. I was fired. I wanted to go on the stage, but my mother said that good girls don't go on the stage. Still, I tried all the theatrical booking offices and I never got by the office boy. One day I was talking to one of these kids and a man walked in and asked me what I could do.

I told him I could sing, dance and act. He said he was doing a brother act at the Fordham in the Bronx and his name was Chico Marx. He invited me to meet Harpo, Groucho and Zeppo. I did and I got a job, at $65 a week. My mother didn't like the idea, and my father was hurt by it. For years, he had worked for $50 a month.

My next job was in a musical called "A Night In Spain." One critic called it "A Night In Pain" and said that, as punishment, the Shuberts should be forced to listen to Helen Kane sing all night. But the big break came in the Paramount Theatre in 1928.

A stage presentation went with the movie, and I had one song: "That's My Weakness Now." Paul Ash was in the pit and, for the heck of it, I tossed a few boop-boopa-doops into the number. It caught on like the measles and, in a few days, my name was out front in lights. The critics said, "A new star is born." I was dizzy with success.

Across the street from the Paramount was a Chinese restaurant and, five times a day I went there to sit at a window table and look at my name in lights. I didn't know whether I was eating chow mein or moo goo guy pan. The waiter began to give me free litchee nuts.

Later I was signed for Arthur Hammerstein's "Good Boy" and I met a handsome Irishman in the show named Dan Healy. He was a famous master of ceremonies and producer of the Cotton Club shows. I sang "I Wanna Be Loved By You" to him so many times he finally took the hint and married me.

From there, I went into movies. I was so rich I used to buy Cadillacs for friends on my lunch hour. I starred with Richard Dix, Jackie Oakie, Buddy Rogers, William Powell, Stu Erwin and Nancy Carroll. I made records for Victor and they sold in the millions.

I lived in a mansion in Beverly Hills, had a swimming pool and servants and cars, and lots of money in the bank. Still, my biggest thrill came when I headlined at the old Palace on Broadway. Performers like Bill Robinson, Jimmy Durante, Ruth Etting, Van and Schenck, Frank Fay and other great names were common on the bill. I felt I had it made.

I went through the Roaring Twenties and the Thrilling Thirties like a runaway rocket. I had imitators in every town in the country; dolls were named after me; even animated cartoons began to boop.

Get the picture? Now let's turn it over and look at the other side. Everything has gone — fame, money, cars, name in lights, the works—everything but Dan. Today, I'm 55. He's 71. We have a small flat at 77-12 35th Avenue in Jackson Heights, N Y., and the only struggle we have is trying to pay the rent on time. I have had two cancer operations and now feel great. Dan, at the moment, is in a Veterans Hospital getting his plumbing adjusted, but this is all minor.

People may smile and say that we have nothing, but they are wrong. We have each other, and that's everything. The other side of the picture is not as glamorous as the first side, but it's a lot more enduring and it doesn't fade.

Remember, I started in a five-story walkup in the Bronx. We're still ahead of the game. . .

Barbiturate Poisoning Seldom Proves Fatal

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The incidence of barbiturate poisoning is high in Greenwich Village, where 140 patients were admitted to St. Vincent's hospital over a six year period. The staff has found through experience that conservative treatment pays off; the final tabulation showed only one patient had died.

An overdose of sleeping pills induces a deep slumber from which the person can be aroused to answer questions. The reaction from this point on depends upon the number of capsules consumed.

At first the individual cannot be aroused, except that a leg may draw up when a toe is pinched or stuck with a needle. As coma deepens, the reflexes begin to go. An eye does not blink, for example, when touched with a finger. With larger doses, the drug depresses respiration or circulation or both.

The toxic effects of a sedative usually are counteracted with stimulants such as Benzedrine, caffeine, or picrotoxin. This method of treatment has been advocated in the past but at St. Vincent's, the tendency has been to administer medicines that improve circulation and use artificial respiration for impaired breathing. This is logical, as death results from failure of the heart or the lungs to continue functioning.

Dr. Matthew J. Ferguson and Dr. William J. Grace reviewed the records of 140 patients admitted to the hospital in various stages of drowsiness and coma. In many instances, the stomach was washed out, fluids were given intravenously, and antibiotics were used to prevent pneumonia.

The physicians were less impressed with the results of stimulants than with the use of Norepinephrine, a drug given to maintain blood pressure and circulation. In addition, a special tube was inserted into the windpipe when artificial respiration was needed. Considerable credit was given also to the nurses who played an outstanding part in the care of these helpless men and women.

WEIGHT AND WATER

A. L. C. writes: Is water fattening?

REPLY

No, but it adds to the body's weight, especially when the tissues hold more than the usual amounts.

CORONARY PAIN

O. W. H writes: Could disease of the coronary arteries cause pain in the stomach?

REPLY

Yes — in the upper abdomen. Distress varies in location but the most common site is under the breastbone.

PIGEONS INCREASING

F. W. writes: Why are there so many pigeon-toed people? Some are pigeon-toed in one foot and some in both.

REPLY

They may be imitating the pigeons. Walking with the toes turned in slightly is not harmful, as it helps to avoid flat feet.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Latest flash from Dallas concerns the oil tycoon who nailed his 8-year-old offspring lighting a cigarette with a one-thousand-dollar bill. "How often have I told you," remonstrated the outraged parent, "that you're too young to smoke!"

The same tycoon, however, shares a common failing: he doesn't think overworked doctors are entitled to charge a fair fee for visits often made in the dead of night. Angrily shaking a thoroughly fair bill from his private medico for pulling him through a severe virus attack, he exploded, "This is outrageous. In the good old days I could have been sick for a whole year for this!"

For one historic double-header, the owners of the old St. Louis Cardinals baseball club (known as the Gashouse Gang) hired a band. Dizzy Dean ran out to centerfield to confer with the leader, with the result that when the trio of umpires appeared for action, the band struck up "Three Blind Mice."

One of the umps pointed a finger at Dizzy and told him, "I ain't got no proof of who done this, but I got eight to one it wasn't nobody else but you!"

Buccos Turn Back Phillies, 10-2 And 3-2

Sturdivant Wins, Burgess Gets Five Hits In Opener

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates won both ends of a twi-night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night 10-2 and 3-2 and the second game had a free-for-all that was ended only when police came on the field. It was played under protest.

In the sixth inning of the second game Bucs catcher Hal Smith tagged out Tony Gonzalez at the plate to end the inning and both players came up swinging. All of a sudden everyone in uniform was involved with even the bullpen squatters from both sides getting into the action.

Tom Sturdivant, the former New York Yankee knuckle-baller posted his first victory for the Pirates in the nightcap. He held the Phillies to six hits, one of them a homer by Gonzalez.

Smoky Burgess had five straight hits, including a solo home run in the opener.

U.S. Votes Against Special U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States voted Tuesday against a special session of the 99-nation General Assembly on the trouble between France and Tunisia over the French base at Bizerte. The U.S. position was that the conflict is likely to be settled apart from such a session.

But diplomats generally predicted one would be held anyway, starting next week.

Argentina and Venezuela voted for the special session. That made 49 assembly members on record for it, only one short of the majority needed to call it.

African and Asian diplomats predicted the majority would be obtained Wednesday and that the assembly would convene Aug. 19 or a few days after that.

Sullivan's Homer Beats Wilhelm, 6-5

Steve Barber Cops Opener For Birds, Defeating A's, 7-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Haywood Sullivan's three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning gave the Kansas City Athletics a 6-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Baltimore won the opener 7-0 on Steve Barber's three-hit pitching, as the Orioles won their 10th straight over Kansas City and 11th in 12 starts against the A's.

Hoyt Wilhelm, who relieved Hal Brown to start the eighth inning, was the victim of Sullivan's fifth homer. An infield single by Jerry Lumpe and a walk set the stage for Sullivan.

Two solo homers by Jackie Brandt and Jim Gentile's two-run homer, his 32nd of the season, had given Baltimore a 5-3 lead.

Kansas City's other runs scored in the fifth. Norm Siebern's lead-off homer snapped Brown's scoreless inning streak at 36, and the A's added two more unearned runs after an error by shortstop Ron Hansen.

In the opener, Barber hurled his sixth shutout, tops in the majors and third against Kansas City. He faced only 29 batters, two over the minimum, as four double plays wiped out Kansas City base runners.

Baltimore backed Barber with 15 hits, including four doubles and a triple with Brandt and Hank Foiles knocking in two runs apiece.

Twins Snap Loss String

Pascual Defeats Boston Sox, 6-5

BOSTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, riding on the pitching and hitting of Camilo Pascual, snapped an eight-game losing string with a 6-5 verdict over Boston Tuesday.

Pascual, who hadnt' driven in a run all season, doubled in two in the fifth and singled home the winner in the sixth as the Twins came from behind a four-run deficit.

The Cuban right-hander spaced six hits in going the distance for his ninth victory in 21 decisions. He struck out 10 and walked three.

Two of the hits — homers by Gary Geiger and Don Buddin — accounted for all the Boston runs. Geiger hammered a one-strike fast ball down the right field line for a grand slam, inside the park homer in the third. Buddin connected with the bases empty in the seventh.

The Twins got three back in the third on Harmon Killebrew's 420-foot triple, a base on balls, and doubles by Earl Battey and Pascual. Doubles by Allison and Jim Lemon, a hit batter and singles by Billy Martin, Bill Tuttle and Pascual, got three more in the sixth.

Maris' Hit Beats Angels In 10th, 5-4

New York Cops 6th In Row; Luis Arroyo Posts 10th Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — A leadoff double by Tony Kubek and a single by Roger Maris brought New York a 5-4, 10th-inning victory over the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday night as the Yankees won their sixth in a row and retained a three-game lead in the American League race.

Starter Eli Grba and losing reliever Art Fowler (5-5), who took over in the ninth, had held the Yanks to four hits until the 10th. Elston Howard collected two of New York's hits, one a two-run double as the Yanks scored three runs in the first inning. Their third hit of the game, Yogi Berra's solo 15th home run in the sixth inning, had tied it 4-all.

The Angels, who now have lost all seven games they've played at Yankee Stadium, came from behind with a pair of two-run innings against starter Bill Stafford. But Hal Reniff and winner Luis Arroyo (10-3), then blanked them on one hit over the last 4 2-3 innings.

Arroyo struck out five in his three frames — fanning Leon Wagner, George Thomas and Joe Koppe in the 10th.

Free-For-All Marks Pirates, Phillies Game

Play At The Plate Starts Fireworks

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A wild, free-for-all broke out between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Phillies in the sixth inning of the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday night and when order was finally restored police were stationed at each dugout.

The brawl, with practically every member of each team involved, was marked by more than a half dozen individual fist fights and wrestling matches.

The fracas started in the bottom half of the inning with the Pirates leading 2-1. Clay Dalrymple singled and Tony Gonzalez attempted to score from second with the tying run but was tagged out by catcher Hal Smith as he slid into the plate.

Smith then tagged Gonzalez again, harder, and the two started tussling with both dugouts emptying.

Players also ran in from the bullpens as the free-for-all continued between home plate and the grandstands.

When the umpires finally restored order after about 10 minutes, the Phillies announced they were playing the game under protest.

Smith was the first batter for the Pirates in the seventh but he was retired on a routine play without any incident.

Von Saltza Shoots For Six Titles

California Lass In AAU Swim Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — America's finest woman swimmer, the soon-to-retire Chris von Saltza, will shoot for an unprecedented six titles as she leads the Santa Clara Swim Club in defense of its team championship this week in the National Women's AAU Meet.

The 17-year-old California lass, an Olympic champion, is one of five girls to win five medals. She accomplished her feat last year in this meet, and this year will try to add the 200-meter backstroke title.

She will be defending champion in the meet starting Thursday night at Kelly pool in Fairmount Park in the 100-, 200- and 400-meter freestyle, and as anchorman on Santa Clara's 400-medley and freestyle relay teams.

In 1957 and 1958 she was the 200-meter backstroke titlist but last year surrendered this crown to fellow Olympian Lynn Burke, no longer active as an amateur.

Miss von Saltza won two events in 1957, three in 1958 and four in 1959, before tying the record for victories in one meet last year.

Also expected to help the Santa Clara team cement another championship is Ann Warner, another Olympian, favored in the 100- and 200-meter breaststroke, where she is defending champion.

Negro Players Are Asked To Shun Roanoke Contest

Seating Segregated For Steelers-Colts Game Saturday

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — Negro players on the Baltimore Colts and Pittsburgh Steelers were asked Tuesday not to participate in an exhibition game here Saturday night because seating in the stadium is segregated.

Rev. R. R. Wilkinson, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he wired the Negro players asking them not to play because "we're engaged here in a fight for freedom, civil rights and justice. . ."

Wilkinson said he had received telephone calls from Lenny Moore of the Colts and the Steelers' John Henry Johnson saying their Negro teammates would prefer not to play.

But Wilkinson quoted both as saying the final decision would rest with the management of their respective clubs.

A Steeler spokesman in Pittsburgh confirmed that four members of the team had received telegrams from the NAACP asking them not to play.

"The players are discussing the telegrams," the spokesman said. "Our players will probably discuss the situation with the Colt players involved before making a decision. Otherwise we have no comment."

The spokesman said John Henry Johnson and Charley Scales, members of the backfield, and linemen John Nisby and Big Daddy Lipscomb received wires from the Roanoke NAACP.

The Steelers have 12 Negro players on their 50-man squad, which has been in training at Slippery Rock, Pa.

Virginia law prohibits the mixing of the races at sporting events, but three Negroes have purchased tickets in the "white section" for Saturday's tilt.

Frostburg Rotary Defeats GOP, 3-2, With Late Rally

The Rotary Club rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth to defeat the Republican Club, 3-2, in a Frostburg Little League game yesterday.

Glen Kerr's double plated the tying and winning runs with two out to climax the Rotary comeback. Trailing 2-0 in the sixth the Rotary nine came to life when an error and Rick Kerr's two-bagger put two runners aboard. A single by Phil Colosimo, a sacrifice and Glen Kerr's double completed the winning rally.

The defeat knocked the Republican Club out of second place as the Rotary (8-7) replaced the GOP tossers (7-7) in the runner-up spot.

Larry Sigler, the losing pitcher, had three of his team's five bingles while Glen Kerr had a double and single and Rick Kerr a two-bagger for the Rotary. The results:

Republican Club	101	000—2	5 3
Rotary Club	000	003—3	6 2

Larry Sigler and Danny Edwards. Billy Cutter and Glen Kerr.

Thirty-five members of the Women's Golf Association participated in the event.

Mrs. Arthur Verner was the runner-up with 102-29—73 and was followed by Mrs. L. W. Brown 107-33—74 and Mrs. Eugene Hilton with 101-26—75.

Publisher Offers To Finance Tests Of Major Baseballs

CHICAGO (UPI) —A magazine publisher offered Tuesday to sponsor tests to determine whether major league baseballs have changed since Babe Ruth's day.

Joseph R. Buell, publisher of Popular Mechanics Magazine, made the offer in a telegram to Commissioner Ford Frick. Buell offered to arrange and finance tests by an independent laboratory of the composition, manufacture and performance of major league balls today and those of 1926.

"If today's baseball is different, we think fans want that information," Buell said. "On the other hand, if our tests show no significant difference between the old and the new balls, as manufacturers have stated, then that fact will be made public, too."

Buell said the magazine was seeking official major league balls used during the mid 1920's and urged anyone having such balls to contact him.

Little Limey Found Dead At Shenandoah

The four-year-old son of British Buddy was a long-time favorite of race goers in the Maryland-West Virginia area.

Green Bay Packers Acquire John Roach

Roach, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound, Southern Methodist graduate who was the Chicago Cardinals third draft choice in 1956, was the club's No. 1 quarterback last season, but went to the Browns earlier this summer.

Colts Use Matte As Pass Receiver

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Rookie Tom Matte, the Baltimore Colts' first draft choice, is working as a pass receiving halfback at the National Football League team's training camp here.

Matte, who saw action in last Friday's College All-Star game, was on the throwing and running end of the ball while a quarterback at Ohio State.

The Colts probably will carry four offensive halfbacks. Lenny Moore has one slot nailed down, so Matte will be fighting six others for one of the three remaining openings.

The veterans are Alex Hawkins, Mike Sommer and Ed Kovac and rookies are Jerry Hill, Don Kern and Jim Small.

Giants Could Play Spoilers Role

Play Dodgers, Reds Total Of 20 Games

NEW YORK (AP — If the Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds are going to fight it out down to the wire in the National League, the San Francisco Giants could be the spoilers.

With about one-third of the season to go, the Giants have 20 games to play with the one-two clubs, 10 with each. The Giants are not out of the race themselves but they trail by nine after Monday's games with time running out on them.

The Reds hold a 9-3 edge over the Giants and will play Al Dark's team at Crosley Field in seven of their 10 remaining games. The Dodgers, on the other hand, are 6-6 with the Giants and must play six more at Candlestick Park.

Cincinnati and Los Angeles will meet seven times, three in the Coliseum and four in Crosley Field. In their first 15 meetings, the Dodgers hold a slim 8-7 edge.

St. Louis, too, can be a decisive factor. The Cards have 18 with the two top teams, nine with each. But once again the schedule favors the Reds who play the Cards six more times at Crosley Field while the Dodgers must make two trips into St. Louis for six more games.

Roger Maris of the Yankees hit 15 home runs in June, three short of the record.

Defense And Drug Stocks Gain In Irregular Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Aside from gains in defense, drug and scattered miscellaneous issues, stocks made little progress Tuesday.

Turnover, however, rose to a five - session high of 4,050,000 shares from 3,560,000 in the prior session and the market broadened out with 1,289 issues traded —four more than in the prior session and 19 more than a week ago.

Advances narrowly outnumbered declines by 560 to 497 with 63 issues reaching new highs and 10 receding to new lows.

Featuring among the D-J industrials included Alcoa off 1⅛, Eastman Kodak up 1⅛, Johns-Manville up 1½, Standard Oil of California off 1⅜, Union Carbide up a point, and United Aircraft up 1¼.

Investor attention was primarily drawn to the beneficiaries of the nation's stepped up defense program as eight issues with a large proportion of military sales showed up in the 15 most active list. They were General Dynamics up 2⅛, Douglas Aircraft unchanged, AVCO up ⅝, Sperry Rand up ¾, Lockheed up 1⅝, Fairchild-Stratos up ⅛, Boeing up ⅜ and Magnavox up 1⅞.

A happy face is ALWAYS a pretty face!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Damaged Skin Needn't Mask Inner Beauty

The pits and scars that remain on the face after a severe case of acne may never cut quite so deep as the wounds they leave on a young woman's spirit. She knows that this is the complexion she will have the rest of her life — and that, unlike other skin problems, the marks of acne are almost as impossible to cure or cover up completely as they are to accept in quiet resignation.

To women with post-acne problems, I repeat most sincerely: Beauty is more than skin-deep. And, on the surface, there is much she can do to help herself.

Dermatology has been experimenting for years with various methods of improving permanently damaged complexions. Not all are generally accepted nor can they be recommended in every case — but they are worth discussing with a competent doctor. Even a small improvement is encouraging enough to restore poise and confidence.

In qualified hands, X-ray therapy, ultraviolet ray treatments or surgery performed with sandpaper or an electric brush may produce a noticeable degree of difference in the skin surface and make the marks easier to mask with makeup. In some cases, doctors may also advise brewer's yeast and extra Vitamin A, as well as special medicated salves, to forestall future skin trouble.

Light pitting will usually respond to camouflage with carefully applied makeup. Heavier scarring and outsize pores are less easy to disguise. It is well worth having a consultation with a professional cosmetician, to work out an effective makeup pattern for the post-acne complexion. It is also wise to use products prepared especially for sensitive or allergic skin . . . and to avoid preparations containing lanolin. Creams containing cholesterol instead are an effective substitute.

Just for experiment, here is one makeup pattern — the double-layer—that may screen badly damaged skin very well indoors and in bright lights. In my opinion, it is too heavy and artificial for outdoor wear, but each woman can make up her own mind on this.

Apply a complete liquid foundation to the face and neck. Add rouge, then powder the face as usual. Now, with a damp sponge, cover this first layer with a thin coat of cake makeup in the same shade. Let it set a half-minute, then blot dry carefully with tissue. You can then do any necessary touching-up to the cheeks or the eye makeup and add your lipstick.

200 Attend Annual PE Employes Picnic

FROSTBURG — The annual family picnic for the Potomac Edison Employes Association was held a recent evening at the Frostburg Swimming Pool with approximately 200 persons from Frostburg and Lonaconing attending.

Harry Fuller, president of the association was in charge of the entertainment. Katherine Close, home economist prepared the picnic supper. Games were played and prizes awarded.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had a very humiliating experience and I would like you to tell me if I am right or wrong to feel insulted.

I've been on the heavy side all my life. Diets and exercise wear me out so I don't bother with them. I wear dark, conservative, well-cut dresses and no one could guess my weight within 25 pounds. Even my husband doesn't know how much I weigh.

Last night we visited some old friends who just refurnished in French Provincial. I was just about to sit down when the hostess rushed over to me and in a voice that could be heard in the next block said "Please, don't sit in that chair. It's an antique and not very strong!"

I took another chair but I was really burned up. My husband says I am too sensitive. I say the hostess was cruel and used terrible judgement. Am I right? —DEEPLY HURT

DEAR DEEPLY: Sorry, but I agree with your husband. "Pleasingly plump" people should know that antique chairs are not for them. If they don't—they should be told. And you were.

Would you have been less humiliated if the chair had collapsed under you? I figure the hostess did you a favor.

DEAR ANN: My sister passed away four months ago and her husband asked me to take their 14-year-old-boy temporarily. I was happy to do it. We have a son 12 and a girl nine. The three children get along well together and I enjoy having "a second son."

The boy's father told me last night he is going to marry a girl who works for him. The son does not like this girl because, I'm sorry to say, he conducted a rather open affair with her while his wife was alive and it caused much unhappiness in the family. The father wants the son to come home to live and the boy wants to stay with us.

My husband feels the boy should go with his father and learn to live with his problem. I say no. What do you say? —A. L.

DEAR A. L.: A boy 14 is old enough to decide where he wants to live. I hope his father will permit him to stay with you.

If the father insists that the boy come home, he will, of course, have to obey. But don't rent his room, Auntie. I'll bet he'll be back.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Next month one of my best girl friends is getting married. I was asked to be in the wedding ceremony.

I have invited a certain fellow to be my date for the wedding. He is rather new in town and has not yet met the bride or groom. I got permission from both of them to have him as my escort, and I'm sure we'll all be getting together before long.

The question is, do you think the fellow should pay for half of my wedding gift so it can be from both of us? Please advise. — SEVENTEEN

DEAR SEVENTEEN: Pay for the wedding gift yourself. The fellow is accommodating you by escorting you. Don't burden him with this financial matter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FAMILY BONDS: Sounds like bats in the hatches to me. If you move into that squirrel cage you'll regret it.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ridgeley Fire Causes Damage To Bedrooms

Flames Burn Through Roof

A fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon swept through three second-floor bedrooms of a two-story frame dwelling along West Virginia State Route 28 near the southern edge of the town limits of Ridgeley.

Extensive fire and water damage was caused to the home occupied by Mrs. Frank Coleman and her son George.

About 16 volunteer firefighters of Ridgeley fought the stubborn blaze, which had a good start. Fire Chief George Hartman said the flames burned through a couple sections of the roof.

He said when the volunteers arrived on the scene about 2 p. m. flames and smoke were coming out of the windows of the bedrooms.

A two-and-a-half-inch hose was connected to a nearby hydrant and water was poured into the burning rooms. Considerable water damage was caused to the first floor. The fire chief said a television set and another piece of furniture were carried from the dwelling, which reportedly is covered by insurance.

Fire Chief Hartman said no one was reported to have been upstairs when the fire started and it is not known how it originated.

Mrs. Coleman's grandchild, who was visiting her at the time, ran across the highway to the home of Anna Malamphy and said the house was on fire.

The Malamphys summoned the volunteer firemen. The siren was sounded twice, according to the fire chief, who pointed out that the second alarm was to alert firemen who relieved those who were the first on the scene and had to report to their regular jobs on the 3 o'clock shift.

The blaze was witnessed by a number of local residents who got a view of it from Thomas Street in South Cumberland.

C&P Plans Addition At Flintstone

Work on a building addition to the Flintstone exchange of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company will be started by Saturday, according to Robert G. Garner, local manager.

The building, which will cost $35,000, is expected to be completed by November 5 and the new equipment will be in operation by January 13, 1962, improving service in the exchange, Mr. Garner said.

The addition will make the building about twice its present size and will house additional switching equipment for the Flintstone area. It will be constructed by the George Construction Company.

Along with the building of the addition about 12 miles of cable is being placed from Flintstone east along Route 40. The new cable will provide facilities for new subscribers and will replace the existing open-wire leads, improving service for present customers.

Total cost of the two jobs will be $54,800.

LaVale To Make Proposal For Sewage Service

Subject Explored With City Heads

The Mayor and Council last night invited the LaVale Sanitary Commission to submit a proposal for having sewage from LaVale treated at the Cumberland sewage treatment plant.

Chester A. Fisher, chairmnn, said the commission will put its engineers, Whitman, Requardt and Associates, to work and come up with a proposal.

He added that if costs were pro-rated equitably there would be a saving to both LaVale and Cumberland, since overhead and operating costs of the plant would be less if it were operated near capacity.

City officials promised the proposal will be considered, both from an engineering and financial standpoint.

Will Consider

It is within the realm of possibility, a city spokesman said, that a plan can be worked out "so both can save some money."

Members of the commission met last night to explore the possibilities of having LaVale's sewage treated here, rather than build separate treatment facilities.

It was agreed, at the start of the meeting, that the Cumberlan- plant is large enough to meet the needs of both communities, and is was tentatively agreed, subject to engineering opinion, that the city's sewer mains are large enough to take care of the extra flow.

Cumberland's plant, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said, can treat twice as much sewage as it is now.

She commented, early in the session, that the question of rates would need a real study.

Must Know Soon

LaVale must know at least tentatively before long, city officials were told, or it will have to design its own plant.

The LaVale unit suggested that charges for sewage service should be based on the share of the cost of amortizing the $2,000,000 plant and the cost of treatment.

This would mean that if the plant treated 10,000,000 gallons of sewage daily, and 2,000,000 of it came from LaVale, the commission's share would be one-fifth of the cost of amortization and operation.

In response to a query from John J. Long, it was explained that a treatment plant for LaVale would cost about $500,000, or about $170,000 more than the estimated cost of hooking up to the Cumberland system.

The estimated annual payment to Cumberland for treating LaVale sewage, based on the community's share in amortization and operating costs, it was explained, would be about $29,600.

The sharing of costs, City Attorney William R. Carscaden said, "is a matter of policy to be decided by the Mayor and Council."

Cites Policy

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the only way he would be interested would be to see LaVale come into the city limits, and then the rates would be 75 per cent of water bills.

Since 1958, the City of Cumberland has refused to allow sewage taps to non-residents, and is providing water in contiguous areas only if customers agree to sign annexation petitions.

At this point, both Commissioners Roeder and Long suggested that the Mayor and Council be allowed to study the proposal.

The LaVale unit was represented by Mr. Fisher, Arthur A. Vickers and Lloyd H. Buchanan, members, and Willard R. Engle, secretary.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Commissioners Roeder, Light and Long and Mr. Carscaden attended for the city.

Franklin Street Base Will Be Laid Today

The Hout Construction Company plans to begin laying the soil-cement base for the Franklin Street widening project today, according to Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Crews are slated to begin the installation at 8 a.m. as the soil-cement mixture moves from the Corriganville quarry.

James Willison, representing the Portland Cement Association, was here yesterday helping quarry crews to calibrate the plant, and will remain here to supervise the work.

The Hout company during recent weeks has installed a storm drainage system for the block-long project, and has laid concrete sidewalks and combination curbs and gutters for the area.

The base will consist of a four-inch blanket of crushed stone which is already in place, and two four-inch layers of soil cement.

The soil-cement base will consist of fine crusher run stone and cement in the proportion of one bag of cement to a ton of stone, mixed with water at the quarry.

After it is laid, it must be protected against drying for a week.

Soil cement was used last year for two residential streets, which received a six-inch base. Two additional inches will be used on Franklin Street due to the heavy truck traffic.

The Cumberland Contracting Company will complete the street later with a two-inch wearing course of blacktop.

Fred H. Anderson, senior counselor of the local council, and H. C. Harclerode, secretary-treasurer, are assisting with arrangements. Garland Cheney is general chairman for the affair.

Kennedy Names Wyoming Man To River Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Tuesday made Teno Roncalio of Cheyenne, Wyo. a member of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin.

This will be an additional duty beyond Roncalio's activities as a member of the International Joint Commission, United States and Canada. The latter is a full-time job. The Potomac commission position will pay nothing.

Roncalio is former state Democratic chairman of Wyoming. He succeeded Edward A. Bacon on the joint commission and also takes Bacon's place on the Potomac commission.

Lion In Parked Cadillac Causes Stir In New York On Way Here For Fair

Big Cat Dozes While Owner Has Lunch Date

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—As William Shepard, a parking lot attendant, put it with considerable logic: "Who would look for a lion in a car?"

So no particular attention was aroused Tuesday when a lion arrived at the lot on 33rd Street across from Pennsylvania station in a cream-colored Cadillac. The lion wasn't driving, of course, he was sleeping in the back seat.

Eventually, however, somebody did spot the lion and began staring at it. The lion awoke and stared back. Another lot attendant, Joseph Pizzigoni, 24, took a look too and later reported: "I never expected to see a lion sitting in a car, so I ran and called police."

The law responded. So did a truck from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The car doors were closed but not locked and ASPCA agents shoved a pail of fresh water into the back seat where the

NATO Powers Endorse Firm Stand On Berlin

Arms Buildup Asked By Rusk

PARIS (AP)—Members of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance endorsed Tuesday the policy of the big Western powers of standing firm on Berlin and keeping the door open to negotiation with Moscow only "on a reasonable basis."

Speaking on behalf of the major powers, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk reported to a closed session of the NATO council on his weekend conference with his British, French and West German colleagues.

Rusk and other Allied officials evaded all comment on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech Monday night calling for negotiations but insisting on Communist demands.

Lord Home's "Reaction"

There was one possible exception to this no comment policy. Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, said negotiation for its own sake would be useless. He did not mention Khrushchevs' speech but may have had it in mind.

Rusk's report included recommendations that allied forces on the continent be brought up to full strength with the addition of perhaps 75,000 to 80,000 men in the near future, and a possible buildup to 30 divisions later on. This is a longtime NATO goal.

An official who attended the session said the council heard Rusk's statement with sympathy. Several members raised questions which the secretary attempted to answer. But council delegates, by the nature of their position as ambassadors, were unable to make any immediate commitment on new expenditures for additional troops.

Early Replies Expected

The same source said council members promised to report back to their governments. Early replies are expected.

The council agreed to consult further on the subject and then reaffirmed the policy adopted by the NATO foreign ministers earlier this year in Oslo. This called for a "peaceful and just" solution of the Berlin and German problems on the basis of self-determination.

Late in the day, Rusk called on French President Charles de Gaulle amid rumors the United States is trying to smooth the dispute between France and Tunisia on the Bizerte naval base.

Proxmire Still Going Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. held the floor Tuesday through the second day of a long speech against President Kennedy's nomination of a former Texas oil man to the Federal Power Commission.

He yielded for long stretches to other speakers, however, and was able during one respite to have a lunch of scrambled eggs and skimmed milk in the Senate cloakroom.

Proxmire said he was not filibustering, just going on record against what he termed a "shocking" move to give the oil and gas interests "their own boy on the power commission."

The nominee whose confirmation he opposes is Lawrence J. O'Connor Jr. of Houston, who has been serving as oil import administrator in the Interior Department.

"Appointing this man to the power commission," Proxmire told a meager Senate audience, "is stacking the deck, loading the dice against the householder whose gas bills are rising steadily year after year."

Steps To Deter Sky Crime Get Senate Unit OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing stiff new penalties for crime in the skies sped through the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., committee chairman, told newsmen he hoped the measure could be brought up for action in the Senate this week.

Both measures were spurred along by last Thursday's hijacking of a Continental airliner near El Paso, Tex., and other similar incidents in recent weeks.

The maximum punishment specified for a variety of crimes in the Senate bill would be life imprisonment. Two House members, Reps. August E. Johansen, R-Mich., and Robert W. Hemphill, D-S.C., advocated the death penalty for aerial hijacking.

The Senate committee took no action on a capital punishment proposal advanced by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

As unanimously approved by the committee, the Senate bill provides that the hijacking of an aircraft in flight in air commerce shall be treated the same as piracy on the high seas. This carries a mandatory penalty of life imprisonment.

A committee aide told newsmen, however, the Justice Department interprets this clause as covering only cases occurring outside the three-mile limit along the nation's coastlines.

There is another section providing that a life sentence can be imposed on anyone who, using a deadly weapon, assaults, threatens or intimidates a flight crew member. However, the life sentence under this section is permissive, not mandatory. The minimum sentence provided is 20 years imprisonment.

Buchman, Pa. Pastor Who Founded MRA, Dead At 83

FREUDENSTADT, Germany (AP)—Dr. Frank Buchman, the Pennsylvania pastor who founded the Moral Re-Armament Movement and spread its ideas over much of the world, is dead at the age of 83.

He succumbed to a heart attack Monday night in this Black Forest town where he conceived MRA.

Its ideals, centering around Dr. Buchman's beliefs that God could rule the world through direct communication with men, attracted hundreds of thousands of followers. In some areas it became controversial, with critics asserting Dr. Buchman held a naive belief in the power of faith toward worldly affairs.

Peter Howard, 52, a British author and journalist, announced the death Tuesday to more than a thousand shocked followers at MRA world headquarters in Caux, Switzerland.

The leader of the movement had named no successor publicly. The choice of Howard to make the announcement indicated he might be chosen for leadership.

During a stay here in 1938, Dr. Buchman wrote later, he strolled to Kienberg Hill and got the idea of MRA as an organized movement. His path now is called Frank Buchman Lane, and his followers will hold a memorial procession there before funeral services here Friday.

West Berlin Refugee Flow Near Record

BERLIN (AP) — Refugees flowed into West Berlin from East Germany Tuesday at the highest rate in eight years despite new Communist police measures to seal off the escape hatch to freedom.

What effect Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech on Berlin had on the refugees was not clear. But it was obvious that Khrushchev's firm insistence on gaining Communist control of the Western access routes to Berlin did little to encourage them to remain in East Germany.

2,021 Register

During the 24 hours that ended at 8 a.m. Tuesday, 2,021 refugees had registered in West Berlin, the highest number since May 28, 1953, when 3,973 were registered just before the East German revolt against the Communists.

There were reports of Communist police prowling East Germany in disguised radio cars, of stricter checks at the city limits, and of new Communist rules limiting trips to the capital.

Information Bureau West said that at Schoenfeld, on the southeast city limits, the border police unit was increased to 65 men and 15 plainclothesmen are on constant street patrol with walkie-talkie radios hidden in their cars.

The private West Berlin intelligence agency also reported the Communists are still sentencing people to jail for "preparing illegal flight" or encouraging others to go.

Reds Remind Jobholders

Placards also were going up in East Berlin and neighboring towns under Red rule, reminding people with jobs in West Berlin they must register with the Communists or face jail sentences.

The Communists protested when Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin city government proposed giving them some of their own medicine. It ordered a check to prevent Communist supporters from taking advantage of the wage fund that compensates West Berliners who work in East Berlin for the low pay they get from the Communists.

Morton Backs JFK Aid Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's long-range foreign aid program got support Tuesday from a prominent Republican senator and an optimistic report from House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

It will emerge from Congress in "pretty good shape," Rayburn predicted after he and other Democratic leaders conferred with President Kennedy at breakfast.

It may be amended before it clears the House and Senate, Rayburn conceded, but he maintained "I don't think fundamentally it will be too much hurt."

Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky, former GOP national chairman, gave the program his support, noting it was "identical in principle" to what former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had advocated.

Kennedy is seeking authority to borrow from the Treasury to finance a five-year $8.8-billion loan program to aid struggling new nations. He wants to put this foreign aid on a long-range planning basis.

Refugees Swamp West Berlin

Women and children from East Germany sit outside Marienfelde camp for refugees in West Berlin yesterday amid possessions taken in every which way from the Communist-controlled zone. The day's count of refugees hit 2,021, highest daily total in eight years, West Berlin officials said. The actual number fleeing yesterday may be much higher since many people did not register immediately. (AP Photofax via radio from Berlin)

Titov Says He Took Controls When Landing

MOSCOW (AP) — Maj. Gherman Titov, an ex-chauffeur who gets a huge Red Square welcome for soaring through man's longest ride, said Tuesday he manned controls of his two-ton space ship aloft and in landing.

"When I had the control of the space ship in my hands I felt like the real pilot," he said in an interview with the government newspaper Izvestia. "The first impression of these manual controls was very good."

How much control the Soviet air force pilot actually had and for what period was not indicated in the article. He said the ship easily obeyed the manual controls.

"I was able to orient it in any direction. Also when I was landing I operated the controls."

Titov is believed to be already in Moscow for Wednesday's Red Square celebration. Premier Khrushchev will give a Kremlin reception for the space man later in the day.

In interviews published both in Izvestia and the Communist party newspaper Pravda Titov's version of what he saw out of his space ship's peephole was much similar to that of the first Soviet man in space, Maj. Yuri Gagarin.

"The earth is exceedingly beautiful from that height," Titov said. "I saw an unusual sun and stars — the brightest, unearthly colors."

"Weightlessness does not interfere," Titov said in discussing that aspect of space flight. "It must be said there were no special hindrances."

He said he suffered no ill effects either during or after his 435,000-mile space shot which took him around the globe 17 times in 25 hours and 18 minutes, ending at 10:18 a.m. Monday.

Titov said his spaceship, Vostok II, functioned "fine and in working order—ready—ready for another flight."

Prosecutor Scoffs At Eichmann Claim

JERUSALEM (UPI—Attorney General Gideon Hausner, beginning the prosecution summation of the case against Adolf Eichmann, charged Tuesday that the former Hitler henchman "helped, aided, abetted and planned" the mass murder of 6,000,000 Jews in World War II.

Hausner, whose summation was expected to last until Friday, said that Eichmann, far from being the "small cog" he contends he was in the Nazi machine, had "full charge" of implementing the crimes against the Jews.

Summing up the months-long trial, Hausner referred to Eichmann's reported demands for the use of gas to kill prisoners, and the use of Jews to help in the extermination of other Jews. He also spoke of a visit by Eichmann to the Auschwitz cooncentration camp to provide details about orders to solve the Jewish problem "once and for all."

"Swift Strike"

4,100 Paratroopers In Massive Air Drop

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The 82nd Airborne Division parachuted 4,100 troops and their equipment Tuesday in a stirring exhibition of this nation's most effective forces to combat worldwide brush wars.

Watching the colorful drop in the sand hills section near Camden, S.C., were Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr., and Air Force Secretary Eugene Zukert. Both expressed pleasure over the manner in which the massive air drop was handled.

The jump was the opening of Phase 2 of operation Swift Strike, Army-Air Force maneuvers designed to continue over-all training of STRAC forces, with emphasis on training field commanders and more than 5,000 air reservists and Air National Guardsmen, many of whom are on alert for possible recall to active duty. This came with President Kennedy's decision of last week to swell the Army, Air Force and Marines by 250,000 men in preparedness for a possible showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin.

Men of the 501st, 2nd Airborne Battle Group, were carried over the area by planes of the 434th Troop Carrier Wing, Bakalar Air Force Base, Ind., a reserve unit.

Maj. Gen. Theodore Conway, the 82nd's commanding general, jumped in a later wave.

The exercise assumes that a small foreign nation has been invaded and the United States is rushing STRAC troops to its aid.

Troop carrier planes will fly sorties the entire day Wednesday, moving equipment, supplies and men into the Darlington, S.C., Airport in support of the 82nd. Thursday, the 101st, acting as the enemy, will stage a retaliatory jump.

Stock Markets Inquiry Backed By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed probe of all stock market operations in the country won unanimous approval of the House Commerce Committee Tuesday.

A resolution calling for the investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission with a special fund of $750,000 was sponsored by Rep. Peter F. Mack, D-Ill.

The move still needs House and Senate approval. The SEC has endorsed the idea.

Mack said he suggested the probe because of "widespread evidence of speculation and of apparent manipulation in many instances in our established securities exchanges and in our over-the-counter markets."

The proposed study would include the 13 organized stock markets in the country and over-the-counter trading. The SEC would be directed to report its findings to Congress by Jan. 3, 1963, and make any recommendations for legislation.

Luxury Liner Strikes Whale

The 543 passengers had just been served dinner, when the ship shuddered. People ran on deck.

Seamen reported blood flowed in the wake of the liner.

"I have sailed since 1938, and nothing like this ever happened to me before," the captain said. "Whales usually keep their distance. That whale must have been sick."

Pastor Niemoeller Comes Out Of Coma

AABENRAA, Denmark (AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, German Lutheran pastor who spent eight years in a concentration camp for opposing Hitler's nazification of religion, Tuesday came out of a 24-hour coma resulting from a car accident that killed his wife and housekeeper.

Kennedy Signs Farm Bill; Calls It "Major Step"

WASHINGTON (AP)—A catch-all bill aimed at whittling down costly food surpluses and jacking up farm incomes was signed into law Tuesday by President Kennedy.

"A major step toward a sound agricultural economy and a better life for the farmers of this country," the President called the new program.

But it is not as big a step as Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman wanted.

Missing from the measure was an administration-backed provision to give the secretary authority, subject to veto by Congress and farmers voting in referenda, to draft quota-price programs for individual commodites.

Freeman told a news conference he was somewhat disappointed that Congress did not see fit to grant this authority. But he hailed the new act as the most constructive and promising farm legislation in many years.

Although lacking the broader authority sought by the administration, the new law does authorize programs to tackle the most immediately pressing problem of overproduction and resultant lower prices in three commodity groups—wheat, feed grains and turkeys.

For example, only two weeks ago the Agriculture Department reported wheat reserves and surpluses had jumped seven per cent in the last year to a record 1,406,556,000 bushels.

Agriculture Department officials estimate the acquisition, storage and shipment of surplus wheat has been costing the government $750 million a year and that the new program will reduce this by $50 million.

To deal with the wheat surplus, the new law requires farmers to take some land out of production—enough to cut present planting allotments at least 10 per cent. In return, they'll get government payments equal to 45 per cent of the production value of the retired land.

Tax Subsidy For Young Newlyweds Suggested

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A tax subsidy to young newly married couples was suggested Tuesday.

Thomas P. Monahan, sociologist of the Philadelphia Municipal court, recommended a study of extending federal tax advantages to young newlyweds during the time when their income is likely to be low. His remarks were prepared for a panel discussion at a convention of the American Bar Association.

"The oldsters in our society now have double income tax exemptions," Monahan said. "Why not a similar provision for persons in the first five years of marriage—when the problems of living, adjusting, and supporting children are the greatest?"

Monahan conceded a drastic change in the public's way of thinking would be necessary to smooth the way for such legislation. "Thus far in the United States, marriage legislation has been largely regulatory or prohibitive," he said.

The sociologist said also the nation needs a new system of social bookkeeping—a national register of all marriages and divorces. He recommended all legal recognition be withdrawn from common-law marriages — still recognized in 15 states.

A national register of marriages and divorces, similar to the nation's Social Security record system, could easily be set up, he said. Monahan said such a system would help solve the problem of bigamy.

Fights Follow Guevara Blast In Conference

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Fidel Castro's bewhiskered economic chief accused the United States Tuesday night of plotting assassination in Latin America. He in turn was called an assassin by a shouting anti-Castroite. Fist fights followed at the turbulent session of the inter-American economic and social conference.

The charges and countercharges arose over President Kennedy's multibillion-dollar Alliance for Progress program.

The attack on the program by Cuba's economic minister, Ernesto Guevara, set off fist fights both in and outside the conference hall at this plush resort.

He was hustled outside by two security guards amid a flurry of swinging fists. In the lobby a second fist fight broke out between anti-Castro sympathizers and the guards.

While the man was shouting "assassin," two other Cuban exiles leaped on the stage and shouted insults at Guevara as he walked away.

Police Arrest Three

Azicri-Levy was accredited to the conference as a reporter for the newspaper Avance of Havana, now published in Miami, Fla.

Launching the longest oration of the conference, the khaki-clad Guevara accused the United States of conniving in an assassination plot against Prime Minister Castro's brother Raul, which he said was intended as an excuse for U.S. military action against Cuba.

Also he hinted the United States was implicated in some way in the slaying last May 30 of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, the Dominican dictator.

Guevara also accused President Kennedy of bad faith in the ill-fated anti-Castro invasion of Cuba last April, which he called a "pirate attack."

He ridiculed the Alliance for Progress plan as a scheme to give "latrines" to the poor and said the United States was "pulling the legs" of the delegates.

"Cuba is the golden egg hen," he said. "While Cuba is there, the United States is ready to give."

"A little push," he added, and Latin America would get the $30 billion in aid Castro had suggested two years ago. The figure of $20 billion in U.S. aid has been mentioned here by American delegates.

Draws Largest Crowd

Guevara drew a standing-room-only crowd, largest of the conference, as he rose dramatically and began his off-the-cuff speech. Other delegates had remained in their seats while delivering carefully prepared texts.

He drew applause in a left-handed way, once when he declared "naturally we respect private property" in Cuba, and again when he sided with some delegates who oppose a hemispheric information agency to publicize the Alliance for Progress plan. Guevara said the purpose of the agency was the "regimentation of thought and, if possible, preparation of military aggression against Cuba."

Guevara denounced the whole conference—called to implement a 50-year development plan for Latin America—as a political maneuver aimed against Cuba and against "the example Cuba is setting for all Latin America."

"I dissent in the name of Cuba from almost all the affirmations thus far made here," he declared.

Smooth-Operating Gunmen Loot Bank

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—In an 11-hour operation carried out without a hitch, three gunmen looted the First West Side Bank, in suburban Omaha Tuesday of a satchel-full of cash—the loss may run more than $50,000—and disappeared.

A bank officer said the loss probably would run to more than $50,000. The FBI said, prior to an audit, that the loot might be in the neighborhood of $20,000 to $40,000. A bank spokesman said the audit was incomplete.

Bomb Shelters Available For $50-$125 Per Person

WASHINGTON (AP)—Experts testified Tuesday that a high degree of protection against nuclear blast, fire and radiation can now be bought for a cost of between $50 and $125 per person.

Associate Director Walmer E. Strope of the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory based these cost and safety estimates on four years of testing.

He told the House Military Operations subcommittee that group shelters might eventually be mass produced to protect 100 people for 14 days for less money.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the group inquiring into the administration's new civil defense program, introduced Strope as an "outstanding shelter expert."

The Navy official was supported by Norman A. Hanunian, specialist of the Rand Corp., which has conducted extensive nuclear warfare studies for the Defense Department.

Hanunian estimated that enemy delivery of 600 weapons each yielding the explosive equivalent of five million tons of TNT might kill about 60 per cent of the unprotected U.S. population.

Fatalities would drop to about 45 per cent if efficient use were made of ordinary basement shelters, Hanunian said, and could drop to as low as five per cent if specially constructed shelters were available and people knew how to use them.

The shelters tested by Navy and Civil Defense specialists are flexible steel arch structures 25 feet wide, 48 feet long and covered by several feet of earth.

Depending on their location, Strope said, they would withstand blast pressure of from 10 to 35 pounds a square inch. He related this to sudden pressures of about five pounds per inch that would demolish most dwellings.

Most sparsely settled county in the United States is Armstrong County in South Dakota. It contains 15 ranches averaging about 19,000 acres in size.

Foes Of Atomic Public Power Win New Round

The vote was 235-164, with 81 Democrats and 154 Republicans favoring the instruction and 155 Democrats and 9 Republicans opposing it.

This reaffirmed the earlier refusal of the House to authorize $95 million for modification of the Hanford project, which is now designed only to produce plutonium for bombs and missiles.

Approved by the Senate as part of a $400-million Atomic Energy Commission authorization, the public power provision had been knocked out by the House July 13 on a 178-140 nonrecorded vote.

Also added to the bill by the Senate was a $5-million atomic coal research program.

The administration favors the Hanford power item. Private power and coal interests oppose it.

One of the House conferees who will meet with a similar Senate group to iron out differences between the Senate and House versions of the AEC authorization is Rep. James Van Zandt, R-Pa. He led the floor fight against the Hanford power provision.

The other House members are Reps. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., and Melvin Price, D-Ill., principal supporters of the provision.

Bandit Flees With $12,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — A lone bandit escaped with $12,000 in cash Tuesday after holding up two women tellers outside a downtown branch office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Police said the tellers, Miss Marion Cain and Mrs. Elsa Ramsey, were on their way to a nearby bank to make a deposit when the bandit approached them.

After asking for the office manager, the women said, the man flashed a long-barrelled revolver and took an envelope from Mrs. Ramsey containing the cash.

The robber returned to Miss Cain an envelope containing an unindisclosed amount of checks.

"Now don't hurry back (into the office)," the bandit told the tellers. "I've got a car waiting outside." He then fled.

Police launched a search for a white man, about 28 years old, with blond hair and wearing sun glasses and an Ivy League suit. He was about 6-2 and 180 pounds, the holdup victims said.

The holdup occurred just before 1:30 p.m. Police said only a few persons were in the office at the time.

House Votes To Lend Destroyer To Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House authorized the President Tuesday to lend 16 destroyers to friendly nations to bolster anti-submarine defenses throughout the world.

The bill, continuing a program that has been in effect since 1953, passed by a voice vote. It now goes to the Senate.

Space Radiation "Map" Devised By Scientists

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—A map that will enable astronauts to dodge dangerous radiation in outer space has been devised experimentally by space scientists at the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Carl McIlwain, an associate of Dr. James Van Allen, discoverer of the Van Allen belts that circle the earth, told about the "magnetic shell coordinates" at a conference of space scientists Tuesday.

The radiation count of the inner Van Allen belt, centered about 2,000 miles above the earth, has been found to vary in intensity in a heretofore unpredictable fashion.

Unshielded Geiger counters in artificial satellites have measured from 10 to 10,000 protons a second in the inner belt.

That means that scientists have been unable to tell an astronaut what dosages of radiation he would receive while passing through the belt, McIlwain said.

With respect to the geographical position of the earth, these particles follow an erratic pattern, shifting in position and density as they literally spiral along lines of magnetic force.

Any prediction on the radiation that could be encountered by man at any given point in the belt could be thrown off by a factor of 10 to 1,000, the scientist said, if the prediction was based on geographical coordinates.

McIlwain said he had worked out an experimental system over the past year using magnetic coordinates, based on surface study of the earth's magnetic field and on observed radiation data as gathered by the Explorer IV satellite.

Using the magnetic system, a particle is found to behave in a stable, predictable fashion, moving within a three-dimensional "shell" as it orbits the earth.

This "straightening out" of the distorted magnetic field into regular coordinates does interesting things to the familiar latitude and longitude lines of earth, too, McIlwain indicated.

From the magnetic viewpoint, the earth appears distorted from its circular shape into a kind of wave-shaped body, he said.

Fights Follow

Cuba, lay in wait for Raul Castro, the commander of the armed forces, at two places, "to kill him."

Guevara said the plotters intended to attack Raul as he traveled from his home to a parade on July 26, the day Cuba celebrated the eighth anniversary of Castro's revolutionary movement. Raul spoke at Santiago in eastern Cuba that day. The plotters, he said, intended to dynamite the speaker's stand if they failed to kill him en route.

"And a few hours later North American mortars would start bombarding the base at Guantanamo Bay. Then the United States would be compelled to defend the base," Guevara said, explaining that the plot was intended as a cover for an American attack.

He said such a plot had been discovered by Cuban security agents.

Three Divisions Get Combat-Ready Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military buildup was expanded Tuesday to include preparations for immediate formation of three more Army combat divisions.

The Army's announcement said that three divisions — the 1st and 2nd Infantry and 2nd Armored—will be reorganized into regular combat divisions.

Missile Silo Door Falls; Five Killed

DENVER (UPI) — Army engineers Tuesday pondered how to safely remove the 116,000-pound concrete and steel slab which fell Monday at the Titan missile launching site near here and killed five workmen.

Two bodies, both unidentified, were under the 58-ton slab late Tuesday. The other three victims were Jerry E. Brancio, 22, Denver; George Graham, 55, Aurora, Colo., and Lacy Calvin Wareheim, 34, Seattle, Wash.

Eight other workmen were injured. But only two remained hospitalized Tuesday.

Top level officials of the ballistics systems division were participating in the investigation of the accident. It occurred at the first of a Titan three-site complex being constructed on the Colorado plains, 20 miles east of Denver. Each site will have a capacity of six missiles.

Bringing Up Baby®

Showing off is second nature to a toddler, but actually a bit of hamacting isn't entirely bad. It often helps develop self-confidence and social poise. However, when it goes beyond the limits of self-expression and high spirits, it's a good idea to distract your little entertainer with some quiet play.

Little appetites are always better off when you set a toddler's table with Gerber Junior Foods. Why? Because the flavors are luscious, the colors sing and the texture is properly minced for tots with teeth. Like Gerber Strained Foods, they're specially processed to preserve true flavors and the utmost in nutritive values.
Little appetites tend to taper off at about the end of the first year, because baby's rate of growth slows down considerably. Naturally he doesn't need the amount of food he needed during the first year. Good way to keep your toddler's appetite bright — serve something new in the way of a taste surprise.
New flavor surprise for the light of your eyes: Gerber Junior Spaghetti, Tomato Sauce and Beef. Tender, enriched spaghetti teams up with bits of juicy beef and savory tomato sauce. So "grown-up" good you won't have a bit of trouble tempting your tyke.

Cheer-up Dept. Does baby have a fussy spell about the same time every day? If so, it often helps to shift bathtime to this cranky time. Water is a wonderful relaxer as well as a distraction.
New, for you! Now, most Gerber Baby Foods come in wide-top jars with Quick-Twist* caps and "Shop-Easy" labels. The caps twist off or on with a quick quarter turn. The new labels speed shopping time, make selection a cinch because the variety name is at the top. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Mich. *T.M. GPC

Favorable Rating Brings Refund In Insurance Bill

A representative of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss the experience rating of the county's life insurance and disability insurance group policy.

Jack Simonton, Baltimore, informed the board that through an office mixup of the insurance firm a check for $2,817.25 in insurance premium refund had not been made in June. He said that the county's disability insurance experience rating had been so favorable that the refund was being made. He had the check with him.

Simonton also reported that due to a four per cent interest which had been earned by the reserve fund credited to the county that it now totals $8,100. This is sufficient for the fund, he added.

Simonton suggested that the county commissioners may be interested in increasing the life insurance coverage on county employes by $500 or $1,000 in view of the recent favorable experience rating in that category of insurance.

The board told Simonton that this would be considered for action in the near future.

Highway Work Advances In West Virginia

Two road jobs in nearby West Virginia have been advertised for bids by August 22, while two other sizeable projects have been awarded by the West Virginia State Roads Commission.

W. J. Galloway, District 9 engineer at Keyser, said that the Terra Alta Limestone Company, of Aurora, Preston County, has been awarded the contract for resurfacing of West Virginia 522 a distance of 6.5 miles from the Virginia line towards Berkeley Springs. The cost is $77,432.

General Paving Company of Morgantown was given the job of resurfacing West Virginia Route 42 from its intersection with W. Va. Route 28 at Petersburg, northwards to Maysville.

The cost of the 9.9-mile project is $129,587., Galloway reported.

On August 22, the SRC in Charleston will open bids on two jobs.

One will be the road change and bridge at Needmore in Hardy County. This contract was originally let to Joseph Burford of Charleston on July 25, but was withdrawn when the specifications did not call for an access road around the .65 mile project.

The other will be a three-mile stretch of West Virginia Secondary Route 8 extending south from U. S. 50 at Romney along the South Branch. This is called the River Road and leads to the Peterkin Conference Center.

City Files Demurrer To Suits

William R. Carscaden, city attorney, has filed a petition in Circuit Court demurring from two suits filed against the City of Cumberland over the police pension fund and also requesting a bill of particulars.

The suits were brought by George Furstenberg, a former city police officer, and Mrs. Bertha May Snyder, widow of Officer John Snyder, in which they are seeking a refund of monies paid into the pension fund.

In his demurrer and request for a bill of particulars, Carscaden states that there is no provision in the pension fund for refunds and that monies are paid out only to police officers upon retirement.

Furstenberg is residing in St. Petersburg, Fla., and was a member of the police force for several years. Snyder was on the force some years prior to his death in 1959.

The suits brought by the two plaintiffs were filed for them by Donald W. Mason, local attorney.

County Seeks Bids For Annex Porch

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners will receive bids until 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, August 22, for a new porch on the library annex building opposite the Court House on Washington Street.

No bids were received some weeks ago on a similar proposal and the specifications were changed to make the project of lesser cost and size.

When Commissioner John T. Mason, who is on the library board of trustees asked that bids be requested it brought an inquiry from Commissioner John J. Rowan on the financing of the project. Rowan asked if the library board had money in its budget for the work.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon said he was not familiar with the proposal. Rowan suggested that Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, check into the responsibility for repairs or changes in the building.

A joint meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and County Civil Service Commission will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Court House.

The session is being held to decide on a number of examinations for county jobs and also to obtain a final decision on the duties of an administrative assistant for the County Civil Defense organization.

This matter has been before the board on numerous occasions and the Civil Service Commission will be asked to hold an examination for the post, based on a classification which has to be determined. The county has been asked to conduct the examination by William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for the county, in order to qualify for matching funds from the state CD organization to help pay for the administrative assistant.

It is also expected that the recent report by the State Employment Security Board on a job classification survey conducted for the county board several months ago will be discussed.

Ansel said he will study the legal aspects of the situation and a decision on whether or not to seek court action will be made Thursday.

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical science has developed an astonishing new formula that now does both: calms pre-period tension and nervousness—helps relieve menstrual cramps and pain.

In tests conducted by hundreds of nurses on themselves, many reported nervousness and irritability were calmed. Abdominal bloat, soreness of breasts and fatigue were reduced. Cramps, backache, depression and headache were relieved. So effective is this new medical discovery that Registered Nurses make such statements as, "A great help both before and during menstruation." "Relieves all symptoms." "More effective than other preparations taken—including prescription drugs." All this without narcotics or tranquilizers, and without changing the regularity of the period in any way. Nurses confirm in this test that women actually ease through more comfortable periods.

A secret of this new discovery (called Trendar® Tablets) is the way it releases excess water fluids that doctors know build up in the days before the period. This build-up causes bloat, soreness, pressure on sensitive female tissues. Trendar Tablets work by releasing the excess water fluids so pressure in tissues is relieved and by relieving cramps and pain.

The ingredients in Trendar Tablets are completely safe and effective taken as directed. Trendar Tablets are available at all drug counters without prescription.

Arundel Police Draw Criticism In Negroes' Case

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Anne Arundel County police were accused Tuesday of "undiplomatic and unjust conduct" in the treatment of Negro prisoners arrested Sunday in a Glen Burnie restaurant.

Meanwhile, Gov. Tawes was asked to call the Maryland Legislature into special session to pass a bill which would require service of all persons in places of public accomodation.

Dr. Theodore H. Johnson Jr., president of the county chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, claimed one of the three Negroes arrested in the Glen Burnie disturbance was held in jail from 12:20 p.m. Sunday to 5:30 p.m. Monday without being fed or given phone privileges.

Johnson made the charges in a telegram to police chief Wilbur C. Wade and demanded an investigation.

Wade said the Negroes, all from Philadelphia, "were shown the courtesy given to anyone brought in and charged. We were exceptionally nice to them."

He said he knew of no instance where one of them was not fed or given phone privileges and said he would "welcome an investigation into the case by any group."

The three — Louis Williams; his wife, Adell; and stepson, Ernest J. Frederick — were fined $100 each on disorderly conduct and assault charges Monday at a hearing before Magistrate Ralph C. Boyd in Ferndale.

They were involved in a disturbance which began after they were denied service at the Hiway Restaurant in Glen Burnie.

Their attorney, Jauanita Jackson Mitchell, said the convictions would be appealed.

Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the Maryland NAACP, sent telegrams to President Kennedy and Gov. Tawes concerning the incident.

The telegram to Tawes urged him to call a special session of the legislature to enact a public accomodations bill. The one to Kennedy requested his support.

Tawes was attending a fair in Hagerstown and was not immediately available for comment. Aides said he had not seen the telegram.

Byrd's Water Carnival Plans Stir Controversy

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The prospect of an all-new Chesapeake Bay water carnival and its relationship to the existing Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair stirred considerable controversy Tuesday.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, announced plans for the water extravaganza last week and said the first one would be held in Cambridge next summer. Thereafter, Byrd said, the carnival would alternate between Cambridge and Annapolis.

The annual Fishing Fair would be held during the carnival and as one of its attractions, Byrd said.

Byrd's statement evoked immediate response from officials of the Fishing Fair Association who said they had not been consulted on any such plans.

State Sen. Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, joined the voices in opposition and said the fisheries commission should "stick to their Tidewater Fisheries business."

Byrd said nobody ever "proposed doing away with the Fishing Fair" and "nobody's ever said Fishing Fair officials have approved it or anything of the kind."

Byrd said the idea for a water carnival actually initiated in a conversation with two fishing fair officials on methods of improving the annual event.

". . . You mentioned to me some ideas you had on this subject but this subject has not been discussed by Fishing Fair officials and several have phoned expressing astonishment at your premature announcement," Chambers' telegram said.

Byrd said the idea was to hold the Fishing Fair in connection with the water carnival, not to eliminate it.

The Fishing Fair has been held annually since 1936, with time-out during the war years, at various points throughout the state. The TFC's proposed water carnival would include all kind of acquatic events, featuring some of the nation's top performers, in addition to the Fishing Fair competitions.

Tawes Cautions IBEW Strike

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes Tuesday asked the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers not to interfere with negotiations between a striking local and metropolitan Baltimore area contractors.

In a telegram to Gordon Freeman, international president of the IBEW, Tawes said:

"I have just met with members of Local 28 and a representative of the contractors. The present dispute between Local 28 and the Maryland electrical contractors in my judgment is a local matter and should be negotiated without outside interference."

The IBEW, the parent union, has attempted to disenfranchise 1,400 local members for allegedly striking without first obtaining permission from the international organization.

The IBEW's attempts to expel Local 28 has been halted temporarily by a restraining order issued in U.S. District Court.

The walkout, he said, has halted progress on construction of several public school buildings, a new Department of Motor Vehicles building in Anne Arundel County, the new Mercy Hospital in Baltimore and a dormitory project at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis.

"Shower" Delays Mail Deliveries

CATONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Mail delivery was delayed to a section of this Baltimore County community because of a shower — but not the kind mentioned in the Post Office motto.

Residents of the 100 block Garden Ridge road gave their mailman, Anthony Sapienza of Arbutus, a baby shower Monday in honor of the birth of his first child — a daughter, Antoinette, who was born July 27.

Sapienza was honored on the lawn of Mrs. Thomas Schaeffer. Homemade signs were unfurled: "For your Baby Girl." He was given a mail bag full of baby things, including a stroller, dishes, clothing and other layette items.

Mrs. Earl Nagel explained the unusual feeling for the letter cartier: "He's been so good to everyone in the neighborhood."

Without children in fourteen years of marriage, he seemed to have adopted the whole neighborhood, Mrs. Nagle said.

Sapienza didn't spend too much time at the shower with his wife, Lorraine. He had to finish delivering the mail.

Harvest Of Apples, Peaches Nears Peak

COLLEGE PARK M.d. (AP) — The harvest of William Red apples and Golden Jubilee and Triogem peaches is expected to reach its peak in the Hancock area this week, the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday.

The harvest of Sunhigh and Halehaven peaches is expected to reach full swing about a week later.

Field crops continued to make "excellent" progress over the two-state area during the past week, the service said.

By the beginning of this week, 80 per cent of the corn was in tassel and about 65 per cent was silked. The small grain harvest had been nearly completed, and the second cutting of alfalfa was nearing completed in north central Maryland.

Labor Camp Probe Due

SALISBURY (AP) — The Wicomico County state's attorney says he will confer later this week with Circuit Judge Judge Rex A. Taylor about recalling the grand jury to study procedures at the Poplar Hill labor camp.

State's Atty. Alfred T. Truitt Jr. said he would discuss with the jurist a recent series of walk-away escapees involving nine inmates of the medium-security prison facility.

Three members of the Wicomico County legislative delegation also have indicated they may initiate an investigation of the camp's operation.

The probes, if undertaken, would be in the wake of the capture of three men who fled the rehabilitation farm near here Sunday. They were taken into custody Monday on Hooper Island where they were hiding in an abandoned house.

Four prisoners walked away from the camp within a week's time earlier, and before that two others escaped. All were recaptured.

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — A new idea under the Hollywood sun, a "talent pool" has been formed by Richard Quine, Blake Edwards and Jack Lemmon who have organized artists and productions associates for the purpose of selecting fresh talent and overseeing its development in the fields of acting, directing and other phases of movie making. The boys certainly chose the right man to head this enterprise—Max Arnow who, for years was head of talent at Columbia Studio and discovered many talented newcomers.

Dick Quine said, "We feel this is a good way of showing our faith in the future of motion pictures and of discovering new faces which we need so badly with the death of so many of our established stars, to say nothing of the age problem."

The French movie is titled "Upstairs Flat" more 'room at the top, I presume and Ray's romance during business hours shooting this musical will be Katrina Valenet. She is one of France's most popular singers and is married to director-producer Ero.

Millions of Americans of Irish descent will be interested to hear that a feature length picture is being planned on the life of St. Patrick, headed by Norman N. Rankow of New York, who obtained financing of $3,000,000, ironically enough from England.

Rankow has approached Hungarian-born Michael Curtiz (who directed "Francis of Assisi") to direct "The Shamrock and The Snake," as the movie is called. Rankow tells Curtiz that the Catholic Film Foundation has agreed, for the first time, to sponsor a commercial film in this one.

Alex Guinness, a Catholic convert, has expressed interest in playing St. Patrick. Although St. Patrick is Ireland's patron saint he was born in France, and there is a school desk he used at the Trappist Monastery near Cannes.

A letter full of chit-chat and news from Munich brings word of some of our favorite Hollywooders and New Yorkers:

"Arlene Francis had two days off 'One, Two, Three' filming in Munich and headed for a very profitable holiday in Biarritz. At the Casino there, she played a hunch - bet 1, 2, 3 - and won herself a bundle of francs.

"Director Billy Wilder calls Arlene 'one-take Francis,' because she invariably completes a scene to his satisfaction the first time.

"Along with her husband, Martin Gabel, Arlene also went to Klosters, Switzerland, to visit Irwin Shaw about future plays. She's been reading dozens of plays and scripts to follow this Wilder picture."

With all this movie-making on foreign shores, there's nothing like having your own interpreter right in your own home. When Van Heflin leaves for Yugoslavia and "Taras Bulba" on Aug. 12th, along goes his own French - Italian translator, his 17-year-old daughter Vana.

Thanks to Van's having made so many pictures abroad when she was younger, Vana speaks both languages fluently. She'll remain with her father in Zagreb for five weeks before returning to Southern California for her sophomore year at Pomona College. But Van won't be lonesome. Francis (Mrs. V) joins him when Vana comes home.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	3 ♠	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♥

Declarer almost fell victim to his partner's rose colored bidding today but careful dummy play combined with a favorable lay of the cards enabled him to bring the hand home.

South's three spade bid is not justified by the holding, for such a call even when not vulnerable should be based upon a hand which rates to take about six tricks. His hand merited a jump overcall to two spades which is also a pre-emptive bid.

North's action is disapproved on two grounds. Inasmuch as South has announced a hand containing strictly preemptive values, thoughts of slam should not be seriously entertained. Furthermore, the Blackwood call is not calculated to help North solve anything. If South has an ace there is no assurance that spades are solid, and then surely declarer will be subject to the loss of at least one heart trick. There is the further consideration that a contract of five spades is by no means safe.

West opened the jack of hearts. East took the queen with the ace and returned the four of the suit which declarer won with the dummy's king. At a quick glance it appears that declarer's one hope rests with finding the singleton or doubleton queen of spades with East so that only one trump trick need be yielded. This was unlikely from the bidding and, had declarer proceeded on that basis, the hand would have been set, for East would rise with the ace of trumps and give his partner a heart ruff.

South considered it a better plan to dispose of the heart in his hand. He therefore cashed two rounds of diamonds. The third one was ruffed by East with the queen of spades and declarer overruffed. A club to the ace then put dummy in to lead another diamond. East ruffed with the ace and South discarded his last heart. On the heart return, South was now able to ruff high and draw West's trumps, bringing home his contract.

Sewage Plant Costs Explained To Rotarians

FROSTBURG — Arthur Gibson, comptroller for the City of Cumberland, told Frostburg Rotary Club at their meeting this week of financing and problems the City of Cumberland encountered when their sewage disposal plant was planned and built.

Gibson said that in 1950 the Water Pollution Control Commission directed the City of Cumberland to proceed on a report of the pollution of the Potomac River. They were then instructed to draw up plans for a sewage disposal plant and proceed with it's erection immediately.

The Housing and Home Financing Department of the Federal Government offered to finance surveys and plannings with the cost to be paid back after construction started. When the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company located in Cumberland there remained no question in the city fathers minds but to build the plant, he said. Home owners pay for disposal of sewage through a 75 per cent added charge to their water bills.

It was pointed out that if Frostburg would erect a plant as planned in the late '50's it would cost water users almost double their water bills if paid for on the same plan as Cumberland.

Mayor Joseph James who attended the meeting spoke briefly and said Council is investigating every type of sewage disposal in order to find the type suitable for Frostburg at a minimum charge. Federal and state aid is now available and would defray almost half of the cost. Mayor James also stated that Regester Associates of Baltimore had been retained to study and to present some plan to Frostburg in the near future.

Harry Ort was program chairman for the evening and introduced Mr. Gibson. Other visitors included city commissioners, William Goebel and Herbert Loar; William Vogtman, city clerk; Captain William Root, a native of Frostburg now attending the General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth; Tim O'Connor, Lonaconing; Theodore Bell, Cumberland; and John Ives, Frostburg, of Kaiser Aluminum Company.

Frostburg Seeks Answer To Runaway Truck Problem

FROSTBURG — A large group of citizens attended last night's City Council meeting, to ask that additional action be taken by the State Roads Commission or State Police to regulate heavy truck traffic on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain.

Mayor Joseph James informed the delegation that he had written the local SRC engineer, John D. Bushby, suggesting several regulations he though would be effective. A letter from Bushby said he forwarded the message to George Lewis, chief of the Maryland Traffic Bureau.

James also pointed out that earlier in the evening an eastbound heavily loaded trailer coal truck crossed over the hill on West Main Street at Lemmert's Alley in low gear. The driver applied his brakes and found that they were not holding. He curbed the truck with no damage to the truck or property.

Ralph M. Race, chairman of the local Traffic Safety Committee, said the only reason there was no damage to other cars was that none were parked at that particular spot However, because the driver was observing the law and had his truck under control, an accident was averted.

Race also stated that his committee had received 128 written suggestions from all over the nation following the runaway accident in which five persons were killed.

James, in summing up the discussion, stated that safety on the mountain depended upon the cooperation of the driver of the truck in using proper caution. Until vehicle operators can be made to realize this by strict enforcement, he added, accidents would continue. It was finally decided that until the SRC builds a by-pass around Frostburg the danger will continue to exist.

Other council business included the reading and passing of an ordinance closing an unnamed alley south of Park Avenue between Beall Street Extended and Maple Street Extended, and Maple Street Extended to be used for the expansion of Frostburg State Teachers College. A public hearing will be held September 18 in City Hall.

A Commission was appointed to hear property owners adjacent to the alley and street in case of any damages. The group includes Harry Shupe, William Lemmert and Francis Plummer. William Wilson, acting city attorney, presented the ordinance to council.

Donations of $250 to the Little League and $75 to the Pony League were authorized.

Richard Sluss, president of the Mountain City Bowmen, asked permission for his club to build an archery range on city property at Piney Run Dam. He was informed that permission would be granted. Safety signs will be erected and insurance taken out to protect the club and the city in case af any accidents.

Maurice Lee, Maple Street, asked for better law enforcement to prevent speeding on Maple Street in front of his property. William Fuller said his company is planning a new housing development south of Frostburg and requested an extension of the city water line to the property.

Probationray periods for Police Officers James C. Pfaff and Edward V. Bevan expired, and both were appointed to permanent positions of patrolmen. Probationary periods for Sgt. James Bucklew and Assistant Chief Leslie Bevan also expired, and both were advanced permanently to their rank.

Fire Damages Dwelling On Wempe Drive

During the past two days firemen from South End station answered three calls including a dwelling fire and grass fire.

At 11:09 a. m. yesterday they were called to the intersection of Montreal Avenue and Ontario Street when Box 69 was pulled. They said a grass fire between Fourth Street and Quebec Avenue was out on arrival.

On Monday at 11:30 p. m. the firemen were called to 23 Wempe Drive, where a fire broke out in the upstairs of a two-story frame dwelling occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Holshey, who were not at home.

Neighbors attempted to extinguish the blaze with a garden hose but the flames got out of control. It was reported that the inside of two bedrooms and bath as well as furnishings and clothing were damaged by the blaze.

Firemen said the blaze ate its way through a partition into a hallway. Considerable water damage was reported on the first floor. The home is said to be covered by insurance.

Firemen were on the scene about an hour and used a booster line to extinguish the fire of undetermined origin.

At 2:10 a. m. yesterday the firemen were recalled to the same address when it was believed smoke was coming from the house.

Firemen said they tossed a mattress from the bedroom to the outside of the dwelling.

Will Meet Friday

A report on the picnic will be given and a nomination committee will be named for the election of officers next month. Refreshments will be served.

Finally, about noon, Richard Flynn returned from lunch to claim both the Cadillac and the lion. While police held back a crowd of about 300, Flynn explained he is an animal trainer from Overland, Mo., and that he had raised the 16-month-old male lion, whose name is King Kado.

With Flynn was Bon Bon Bass, 25, of the Bronx. She used to make a living by inserting her head in the lion's mouth. She and Flynn split up, however, and the luncheon date was arranged to talk over a proposition that she resume putting her head in Kado's mouth. Apparently, no firm decision was reached.

Flynn insisted it wasn't unusual to park Kado with the Cadillac. But police found it unusual enough to hand Flynn two summonses—for violating the health code and for bringing a wild animal into the city. For good measure, the parking lot was ticketed for allowing such an animal to utilize its facilities.

Flynn and his lion are scheduled to open Aug. 14 at the Cumberland, Md., fair. Said Flynn by way of final reassurance to the crowd: "He's as docile as any human being."

Meetings Set For School Bus Drivers

Three in-service training meetings for bus contractors and drivers who transport Allegany County public school children to and from classes will be held the latter part of this month.

J. Hubert Radcliffe, supervisor of transportation in county public schools, said yesterday the meetings will be held on Tuesday, August 29 at Flintstone School; August 30 at West Side School; and August 31 at Valley High in Lonaconing. Meeting time will be 7 p.m., he said.

The purpose of the meetings, said Mr. Radcliffe, is to acquaint and remind each bus contractor and driver of state law requirements for bus drivers, state automobile laws, qualifications and responsibilities of drivers, operational regulations and practices.

Letters on the "importance of the school bus driver" and notification of the three meeting dates, time and places have been mailed to bus contractors and drivers, Mr. Radcliffe said.

A state trooper will attend each meeting to discuss highway safety, rules and regulations pertaining to the drivers.

Another important topic of discussion will be a program on the evacuation of school children from buses.

Earlier this summer bus evacuation was outlined at a supervisors' workshop held at the University of Maryland, sponsored by the State Department of Education.

Mr. Radcliffe, who attended, said various other projects including a driver's handbook, administrative and general duties of a driver were discussed.

Some of Mr. Radcliffe's ideas were incorporated in an evacuation program which includes suggestions by other supervisors throughout Maryland.

Mr. Radcliffe said that during the workshop Wesley Pickle of Tennessee led a discussion on the emphasis now being placed on school bus transportation through the nation.

One tragic incident which drives home the need for a bus evacuation program was the fatal school bus-passenger train accident September 10, 1959 when seven public school children lost their lives and 11 were hospitalized in a crash on the B&O Railroad crossing at Mountain Lake Park.

Airman Reports Flying Object

Airman Rance Nethken reported spotting an unidentified flying object in the sky which he observed Monday night through a telescope at his home, 733 Hill Top Drive.

The airman said the object had a magnitude of minus 1.5 and was traveling from west to northeast. He estimated the speed of the object at about 20,000 miles per hour and said it was about 1,000 miles high. It was visible for about 10 minutes.

Windows Are Broken

Police received a complaint yesterday that a number of windaws had been broken at Grace Baptist Church, 213 Greene Street. Officer Clarence Valentine is investigating.

Local Resident Is Hurt When Car Rams Tree

Joseph Madden, 31, of 194 North Centre Street, is reported "resting comfortably" at Miners Hospital in Frostburg where he was admitted early yesterday with injuries sustained in a one-car accident in that community.

Frostburg City Police officers Karl Hetz and James Pfaff said Madden was injured when his car rammed into a tree at 1:30 a. m. on East Main Street.

Police said the Cumberland man was traveling west on Main Street when he smashed into a large tree on the property of Arch Davis. The vehicle then veered across Main Street and came to rest in the yard of Mrs. Paul Carpenter, 277 East Main Street.

Police said when the auto smashed the tree the 12-inch trunk was broken off about three feet from the ground.

Members of the Frostburg Fire Department were summoned to the scene to wash down the area.

Court Probates Two Wills

Two wills were probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Mrs. Constance Eisentrout, who was an 85-year-old resident of Midland at the time of her death July 31. A son, Earl Kroll, Midland, qualified as executor under a $500 bond.

The estate was divided equally among her three children, Earl and John Edward Kroll, both of Midland, and Mrs. Sylvia Kroll Little, Painesville, Ohio. The will was dated April 14, 1960.

Also probated yesterday was the will of Charles J. McDonald, Sr., who was a 68-year-old resident of 629 McMullen Highway, Bowling Green, at the time of his sudden death August 2.

Attorney Earl E. Manges qualified as executor of the estate under a $1,00 bond. All of the estate was left to Mr. McDonald's son, Charles J. McDonald Jr., Bowling Green, when he reaches the age of 25. This will was dated September 3, 1952.

New Mathematics Approach Urged

It has been proposed that the teaching of mathematics in high schools be drastically revised to bring that subject into the 20th century.

The proposer is Prof. Howard F. Fehr, head of the department of the teaching of mathematics at Teachers College, Columbia University. He spoke as one of a group of mathematicians from 17 countries who have been studying the question.

Professor Fehr says the schools are teaching the mathematics that was taught 200 years ago. He urges, for example, that the strict Euclidean approach to geometry be eliminated as obsolete.

The emphasis, he declares, should be placed on the building of mathematical concepts, on structure, and on understanding.

Mathematics as it is usually taught in high schools is a dull subject that students, other than those with special aptitudes for it, try to avoid. More and more students are choosing other courses — except mathematics courses required for college entrance. Mathematics, indeed, has become a dead subject no more attractive to the average high school student than Latin.

The idea that Latin and higher mathematics, while not really useful to most students, provide excellent mental training and discipline merely serves to drive away many students.

Yet mathematics can be the most fascinating of subjects when properly integrated with physics and when its applicability to modern technological society can be demonstrated to the pupil.

A new program would involve the retraining of mathematics teachers and the production of new books, so it would be years before it could be put into general use. Certain mathematics teachers, especially those who make the present type of mathematics an uninteresting chore, are sure to fight the change.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Mongolia

Cut out of China or Siberia or Turkestan, whichever you choose, is Mongolia. The Mongols have played a curious role in history, suddenly emerging to significance in the 12th Century and conquering much of Europe and Asia and then receding to a small, insignificant collection of tribes. Genghis Khan, who brought the Mongols to power, was born in the region of Lake Baikal. He married the daughter of the chief of Karakorum, where he established his capital. Then he subdued the whole of Mongolia.

In 1211, he began to conquer North China and in due course took the entire country. He also moved westward and conquered Turkestan and the great cities of Khiva, Samarkand and Bokhara. Thus, Genghis Khan not only possessed military power but he accumulated great wealth. He then moved into Persia, the Caucasus and Russia and into India.

Having conquered so much of the world, he returned to Karakorum in 1224 and set himself up as a great ruler but he did not live long.

Modern Mongolia is a large country of 1,367,000 square miles, but its population is small, 2,500,000, and it is likely to remain small because much of Mongolia consists of the Gobi Desert, a land which is useful for cattle and horse grazing but for little else.

When China became a republic, Mongolia was divided into two parts, Outer and Inner. The latter part, closer to China, attracted many Chinese who introduced Chinese methods of agriculture. Urga was the capital of Mongolia and I have been on the Kalgan-Urga Road in my day. It is a land without an excitement.

It is to be noted that although the Chinese are often referred to as a Mongoloid people, they are not Mongols; nor are the Japanese. In fact, the Mongols are closer to the Turkish tribe called the Uigurs who ultimately showed up in Hungary and Finland.

Since the Russian conquest of the Amur region by Muraviev-Amursky (1858), Russia has sought to conquer the whole of Mongolia and Turkestan. One of the earliest wars fought by China against Russia was over the Ili region of Turkestan. The Amur, which became the dividing line between Siberia and China also establishes the historic fact that the Maritime Provinces of Siberia are more Chinese than Russian territory.

There is no natural boundary line between Mongolia and Siberia or Mongolia and Turkestan. Therefore the same peoples are to be found in all these areas. Some of these people are still Shamanistic in religion; most of them are Moslems. The Mongols, up to the conquest by Soviet Russia, were Lamaistic Buddhists; that is, they took their religion from Tibet rather than from China. And as in Tibet, an unusually large number of men and women were monks and nuns and therefore celibates; thus, keeping the population small, averaging about two per square mile. Undoubtedly, this has changed somewhat under the Communists who do not believe in religious restraints. Increased population, however, can only produce famine as the land is not suited for the production of food and there is little or no mineral wealth. Some oil has been found in Chinese territory adjacent to Mongolia but it is not economically significant.

Mongolia is now a state, a satellite of Soviet Russia, functioning as an independent Communist country under the Soviet system. It has produced nothing in recent years to encourage one to believe that it is very different from what it was 30 or 40 years ago when it startled the world as being a source of dinosaur's eggs.

Owen Lattimore, an American who lived in Tientsin and very influential in the State Department, is one of the very few Americans who knows Mongolia. He is in that country now although how he got a passport to go there or what he is doing there is not known—except that Lattimore's presence in Mongolia synchronizes with the State Department's activity in favor of getting Mongolia into the United Nations. Neither Red nor Nationalist China supports the idea of a separate Mongolia, which, historically is a part of China. The admission of Mongolia into the United Nations is a State Department trick to divert attention from the admission of Red China. It is not attracting favorable support in Asia, although Soviet Russia is pleased with the idea.

'Negotiate . . . And We'll Douse The Light'

Spirit Of Revenge Underlying Cause Of Wars

By David Lawrence

IN EUROPE, Aug. 8 — What causes wars? What was the public passion that helped to cause World War I in 1914 and World War II in 1939? Curiously enough, the latest Soviet note to the United States government raises unwittingly the very point that could someday give motivation to World War III.

For underlying the public opinion of France in 1914 was a spirit of revenge aroused by the seizure of her Alsace-Lorraine provinces when German Armies triumphed in 1870. A vengeful feeling kept building up in France for generations thereafter.

Likewise, in 1939, the same spirit of revenge had festered for 20 years inside Germany over the terms imposed after its defeat in 1918. It was this that gave Hitler his chance to rally an embittered people.

Today the Soviet government apparently is not yet aware of what the spirit of revenge can do inside a defeated nation. For the latest Soviet note uses at least a half-dozen times the French word for revenge—"revanche"—in seeking to bolster an argument that really should be turned around.

For wouldn't a divided Germany give the German people in the next several years a constant reminder of their defeat and keep burning the fires of revenge against Russia? France, in contrast, does not fear West Germany but is actually forming an economic and political union with the free government at Bonn.

The Soviet note, however, points out that "militarists and revanchists are again growing strong in Western Germany," and then adds:

"Before everybody's eyes, Western Germany is becoming a seat of war danger in Europe. . . . The bundeswehr (militia) is being trained as an army being formed and designed to wage a rocket-nuclear war. . . . the work of scientific-technical thought conducted in the quiet of studies and laboratories has been placed at the service of the bundeswehr. But it is general knowledge that in our times some laboratories are much more dangerous than military barracks. . . .

"If we multiply the military-material bases of the Federal Republic of Germany by the militarist and revanchist spirit which, like a quarter of a century ago, permeates all spheres of the state and public life, the graveness of the danger created by the present developments in the Federal Republic of Germany will become self-evident. The population of West Germany lives in an atmosphere of rampant revanchist passions."

But the Soviet Union overlooks entirly the deep-seated feeling which arises within any patriotic people when 17,000,000 persons of the same flesh and blood are kept in bondage by a foreign government. All the sympathy which the Soviets profess to have for the colonial peoples in Africa and Asia seems hypocritical when the feelings of a civilized and efficient people like those in Germany are disregarded as they yearn for the restoration of their homeland.

Instead, the Soviet note now attempts to justify a perpetuation of the division of the German people by claiming that East and West Germany are already two different nations — one Communist and the other capitalistic. The note says on this point:

"They (the two Germanys) are separated by deep-going differences in the internal way of life, in other words, by deep-going social differences. To try and counterpoise the slogan of self-determination to the struggle inside a nation for social progress means to juggle with concepts. If we are to speak of the social system, and this is precisely the matter to be discussed, in connection with the formation of two independent states instead of former Germany, both these states have long since made their choice."

And who made the "choice" for them? The Soviet Union stands convicted before the world of having given in our times the biggest single impetus to "revanchism"—the spirit of revenge against Russia — that modern history can record.

The technical and legal points which the Soviet Union offers also as a justification for a separate peace treaty are plainly inaccurate. Separate peace treaties, to be sure, are not in themselves unknown in history because the existence of varying conditions has always been recognized among belligerents. But rarely have a set of allies countenanced or acquiesced in a separate treaty which puts a substantial part of the vanquished territory into the hands of a conquering ally without first obtaining the consent of the victorious partners in the war.

Unfortunately, in this instance, the signing of a separate peace treaty with East Germany would prolong, in effect, a wartime occupation and continue the domination of 17,000,000 German people by a foreign government. It would attempt to cram down their throats a way of living which denies them a voice in their own government or in the kind of economic system under which they would prefer to live.

The situation indeed may someday be ripened for another dictatorship to count on rallying this very patriotic feeling to start a war of revenge against Russia. It would be far better to give the West German Republic the opportunity to foster and develop in East Germany the spirit of democracy and freedom which the Bonn Government has instilled in the people of West Germany since 1945. For this is the best way to build a bridge of friendship and peace across the borders between Germany and the Russian Bloc, so many of whose members would likewise appreciate a chance for self-determination and a truly democratic system of government.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RAINBOW ROADS—City streets of the future may be paved in all colors of the rainbow. The idea is already being experimented with in Washington, D. C., where a section of one street has been paved in bright green asphalt, another in brilliant yellow, and another with a forest green walkway for pedestrians.

The plan has this in mind: streets of the future could be paved in various colors for various lanes of traffic. Instead of a maze of traffic signs and arrows, motorists would be instructed to follow the red lane for the expressway entrances, etc.

Colored roads could also be used to warn motorists they are approaching busy intersections or school or hospital zones, or blind curves or other permanent but not clearly visible road hazards.

INFLUENCE — One of the smaller but politically more important chores of senators is to use their influence to get something from the federal government for a town within their state. Many times this takes the form of plumping for a new post office, or some other public building that is constructed with federal funds.

However, Wyoming's two senators, Gale McGee and J. J. Hickey, are hard at work trying to stop the Post Office Department from building a new building in a town with the picturesque name of Big Horn.

The department wants to build a new structure in the name of efficiency and appearance, but the residents prefer to have the one they now have — in the grocery where it's always been!

Barbiturate Poisoning Seldom Proves Fatal

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The incidence of barbiturate poisoning is high in Greenwich Village, where 140 patients were admitted to St. Vincent's hospital over a six year period. The staff has found through experience that conservative treatment pays off; the final tabulation showed only one patient had died.

An overdose of sleeping pills induces a deep slumber from which the person can be aroused to answer questions. The reaction from this point on depends upon the number of capsules consumed.

At first the individual cannot be aroused, except that a leg may draw up when a toe is pinched or stuck with a needle. As coma deepens, the reflexes begin to go. An eye does not blink, for example, when touched with a finger. With larger doses, the drug depresses respiration or circulation or both.

The toxic effects of a sedative usually are counteracted with stimulants such as Benzedrine, caffeine, or picrotoxin. This method of treatment has been advocated in the past but at St. Vincent's, the tendency has been to administer medicines that improve circulation and use artificial respiration for impaired breathing. This is logical, as death results from failure of the heart or the lungs to continue functioning.

Dr. Matthew J. Ferguson and Dr. William J. Grace reviewed the records of 140 patients admitted to the hospital in various stages of drowsiness and coma. In many instances, the stomach was washed out, fluids were given intravenously, and antibiotics were used to prevent pneumonia.

The physicians were less impressed with the results of stimulants than with the use of Norepinephrine, a drug given to maintain blood pressure and circulation. In addition, a special tube was inserted into the windpipe when artificial respiration was needed. Considerable credit was given also to the nurses who played an outstanding part in the care of these helpless men and women.

WEIGHT AND WATER

A. L. C. writes: Is water fattening?

REPLY

No, but it adds to the body's weight, especially when the tissues hold more than the usual amounts.

CORONARY PAIN

O. W. H writes: Could disease of the coronary arteries cause pain in the stomach?

REPLY

Yes — in the upper abdomen. Distress varies in location but the most common site is under the breastbone.

PIGEONS INCREASING

F. W. writes: Why are there so many pigeon-toed people? Some are pigeon-toed in one foot and some in both.

REPLY

They may be imitating the pigeons. Walking with the toes turned in slightly is not harmful, as it helps to avoid flat feet.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Latest flash from Dallas concerns the oil tycoon who nailed his 8-year-old offspring lighting a cigarette with a one-thousand-dollar bill. "How often have I told you," remonstrated the outraged parent, "that you're too young to smoke!"

The same tycoon, however, shares a common failing: he doesn't think overworked doctors are entitled to charge a fair fee for visits often made in the dead of night. Angrily shaking a thoroughly fair bill from his private medico for pulling him through a severe virus attack, he exploded, "This is outrageous. In the good old days I could have been sick for a whole year for this!"

For one historic double-header, the owners of the old St. Louis Cardinals baseball club (known as the Gashouse Gang) hired a band. Dizzy Dean ran out to centerfield to confer with the leader, with the result that when the trio of umpires appeared for action, the band struck up "Three Blind Mice."

One of the umps pointed a finger at Dizzy and told him, "I ain't got no proof of who done this, but I got eight to one it wasn't nobody else but you!"

People Of West Berlin Make Quiet Preparations For Another Blockade

By Drew Pearson

BERLIN — The people of West Berlin go about their business just as if they were not the diplomatic focal point of the world. You would never guess, from watching them enjoy the Scala Ice Follies or taking their children to the zoo, that they had the slightest concern about the future.

Nevertheless, they have been making quiet preparations. And in case of another Berlin blockade, the city's 2,200,000 people probably could squeak through eight months of existence with little or no help from the outside world.

Burgemeister Franz Amrehn told me about the blockade preparations.

"We have enough coal stored up to last us for one year," he said with quiet pride. "We have enough gasoline and oil to last six months and, with rationing, it could last longer. Oil and gas have been harder to store, because they require expensive storage tanks and we are working with the oil companies to build them.

"As for food, we believe we could last six months easily; with care, considerably longer. We have the ration cards all printed and ready to use on a moment's notice. We are not looking for trouble, but we are ready for it."

Burgemeister Amrehn doesn't get into the headlnies as much as "governing Mayor" Willy Brandt. Amrehn is a member of the Christian Democrat Party to which Chancellor Adenauer belongs. Brandt is a member of the Social Democrat Party and is running against Adenauer in the national elections in September.

"We'll Stay In Berlin"

"We get along pretty well together despite our opposite politics," Amrehn told me. "After all, the defense of Berlin is more important than politics.

"I was born in Berlin, and except for five years fighting in the German Army I have always lived in Berlin. I was wounded on the Russian Front early in the war, but recovered and went back in the Army to defend Berlin as the Russians were entering at the end of the war. By then it was hopeless. It is not hopeless now. We intend to stay in Berlin."

If there is merely an economic blockade of Berlin, Burgemeister Amrehn is probably right. This little oasis of capitalism completely surrounded by Communism probably could survive for a considerable time. Furthermore, it has some other weapons — such as its heavy purchases from East Germany, which Communist leaders have come to rely on.

However, if war does come, it will be another story.

If American forces refuse to accept another Berlin Blockade, and if an armed convoy pushes up the highway to Berlin as President Kennedy has indicated will happen, and if East German forces resist, then all the coal, all the food, all the rationing tickets carefully printed by the West Berliners will mean nothing.

Then it will be up to the U. S. Army in Berlin and American forces elsewhere in West Germany.

Inadequate Arms

There are only 4,300 American troops in West Berlin. They are seasoned, well-trained men. But until recently — and perhaps even now — they are not as well equipped as Castro's army in Cuba. Castro has been getting the most up-to-date weapons the Czech munitions works at Skoda can turn out. Only last month, in contrast, were American troops in Berlin shipped modern M60 machine guns and M14 rifles. Even today, they have not yet received new M60 tanks to replace old-fashioned Patton tanks.

Elsewhere in West Germany, the U. S. Army has five combat divisions. But in East Germany, the Russians have 20 divisions and the East Germans six, while not far away in the Soviet Union, the Red army, 174 divisions strong, spearheaded by 70,000 modern tanks, is described by American generals as "the most powerful and one of the fastest moving armies in the world today."

It would make mincemeat of the 4,300 American troops in Berlin, would humble the five American divisions in West Germany, no matter how courageously and tenaciously they fought.

So the inescapable fact is that any defense of Berlin by the West means nuclear war.

Nuclear war, in turn, means that Berlin this time would probably escape the holocaust it helped create. This time Berlin would not suffer the bashed-in roofs, the ghostly skeletons of once magnificent palaces, the birds roosting in the once ornate bedrooms of court mistresses. For nuclear war would pass over Berlin.

Gen. Curtis Le May has denied the remark he was quoted as making at a Washington dinner table that war would come in December, that it would lay waste Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, and the major cities of Russia, and that it would be over by January 1.

Nevertheless, if there is nuclear war, General Le May's remark was completely accurate.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Helen Kane

(Editor's note: Jim Bishop has left for Europe and will write from abroad in about a week. Today's column was written by Helen Kane, who was once the famous Boop-a-Doop girl.)

Dear Jim: I know that your column is not rigged and I will have to write this myself. I think I had better write about something I know about — show business (which there is no biz like).

I never wanted to be anything but an actress and did a lot of amateur plays at school, but I drove the poor nuns crazy. They couldn't understand how I could learn a song in a half hour and memorize a play overnight, but couldn't learn to spell 10 words in a year.

At 13, I got my working papers. My father called them my walking papers. He said the nuns were glad to get rid of me. I tried many jobs, most of them lasting a week. One was packing player piano rolls in little boxes. The great jazz pianists of the day used to come to the factory to make new rolls and sometimes, when the boss was out, I used to stand on a table and sing.

The boss caught me. I was fired. I wanted to go on the stage, but my mother said that good girls don't go on the stage. Still, I tried all the theatrical booking offices and I never got by the office boy. One day I was talking to one of these kids and a man walked in and asked me what I could do.

I told him I could sing, dance and act. He said he was doing a brother act at the Fordham in the Bronx and his name was Chico Marx. He invited me to meet Harpo, Groucho and Zeppo. I did and I got a job, at $65 a week. My mother didn't like the idea, and my father was hurt by it. For years, he had worked for $50 a month.

My next job was in a musical called "A Night In Spain." One critic called it "A Night In Pain" and said that, as punishment, the Shuberts should be forced to listen to Helen Kane sing all night. But the big break came in the Paramount Theatre in 1928.

A stage presentation went with the movie, and I had one song: "That's My Weakness Now." Paul Ash was in the pit and, for the heck of it, I tossed a few boop-boopa-doops into the number. It caught on like the measles and, in a few days, my name was out front in lights. The critics said, "A new star is born." I was dizzy with success.

Across the street from the Paramount was a Chinese restaurant and, five times a day I went there to sit at a window table and look at my name in lights. I didn't know whether I was eating chow mein or moo goo guy pan. The waiter began to give me free litchee nuts.

Later I was signed for Arthur Hammerstein's "Good Boy" and I met a handsome Irishman in the show named Dan Healy. He was a famous master of ceremonies and producer of the Cotton Club shows. I sang "I Wanna Be Loved By You" to him so many times he finally took the hint and married me.

From there, I went into movies. I was so rich I used to buy Cadillacs for friends on my lunch hour. I starred with Richard Dix, Jackie Oakie, Buddy Rogers, William Powell, Stu Erwin and Nancy Carroll. I made records for Victor and they sold in the millions.

I lived in a mansion in Beverly Hills, had a swimming pool and servants and cars, and lots of money in the bank. Still, my biggest thrill came when I headlined at the old Palace on Broadway. Performers like Bill Robinson, Jimmy Durante, Ruth Etting, Van and Schenck, Frank Fay and other great names were common on the bill. I felt I had it made.

I went through the Roaring Twenties and the Thrilling Thirties like a runaway rocket. I had imitators in every town in the country; dolls were named after me; even animated cartoons began to boop.

Get the picture? Now let's turn it over and look at the other side. Everything has gone — fame, money, cars, name in lights, the works—everything but Dan. Today, I'm 55. He's 71. We have a small flat at 77-12 35th Avenue in Jackson Heights, N. Y., and the only struggle we have is trying to pay the rent on time. I have had two cancer operations and now feel great. Dan, at the moment, is in a Veterans Hospital getting his plumbing adjusted, but this is all minor.

People may smile and say that we have nothing, but they are wrong. We have each other, and that's everything. The other side of the picture is not as glamorous as the first side, but it's a lot more enduring and it doesn't fade.

Remember, I started in a five-story walkup in the Bronx. We're still ahead of the game. . .

Sturdivant Wins, Burgess Gets Five Hits In Opener

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates won both ends of a twi-night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night 10-2 and 3-2 and the second game had a free-for-all that was ended only when police came on the field. It was played under protest.

Tom Sturdivant, the former New York Yankee knuckle-baller posted his first victory for the Pirates in the nightcap. He held the Phillies to six hits, one of them a homer by Gonzalez.

Smoky Burgess had five straight hits, including a solo home run in the opener.

U.S. Votes Against Special U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States voted Tuesday against a special session of the 99-nation General Assembly on the trouble between France and Tunisia over the French base at Bizerte. The U.S. position was that the conflict is likely to be settled apart from such a session.

But diplomats generally predicted one would be held anyway, starting next week.

Argentina and Venezuela voted for the special session. That made 49 assembly members on record for it, only one short of the majority needed to call it.

African and Asian diplomats predicted the majority would be obtained Wednesday and that the assembly would convene Aug. 19 or a few days after that.

Sullivan's Homer Beats Wilhelm, 6-5

Steve Barber Cops Opener For Birds, Defeating A's, 7-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Haywood Sullivan's three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning gave the Kansas City Athletics a 6-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Baltimore won the opener 7-0 on Steve Barber's three-hit pitching, as the Orioles won their 10th straight over Kansas City and 11th in 12 starts against the A's.

Hoyt Wilhelm, who relieved Hal Brown to start the eighth inning, was the victim of Sullivan's fifth homer. An infield single by Jerry Lumpe and a walk set the stage for Sullivan.

Two solo homers by Jackie Brandt and Jim Gentile's two-run homer, his 32nd of the season, had given Baltimore a 5-3 lead.

Kansas City's other runs scored in the fifth. Norm Siebern's lead-off homer snapped Brown's scoreless inning streak at 36, and the A's added two more unearned runs after an error by shortstop Ron Hansen.

In the opener, Barber hurled his sixth shutout, tops in the majors and third against Kansas City. He faced only 29 batters, two over the minimum, as four double plays wiped out Kansas City base runners.

Baltimore backed Barber with 15 hits, including four doubles and a triple with Brandt and Hank Foiles knocking in two runs apiece.

Twins Snap Loss String

Pascual Defeats Boston Sox, 6-5

BOSTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, riding on the pitching and hitting of Camilo Pascual, snapped an eight-game losing string with a 6-5 verdict over Boston Tuesday.

Pascual, who hadnt' driven in a run all season, doubled in two in the fifth and singled home the winner in the sixth as the Twins came from behind a four-run deficit.

The Cuban right-hander spaced six hits in going the distance for his ninth victory in 21 decisions. He struck out 10 and walked three.

Two of the hits — homers by Gary Geiger and Don Buddin — accounted for all the Boston runs. Geiger hammered a one-strike fast ball down the right field line for a grand slam, inside the park homer in the third. Buddin connected with the bases empty in the seventh.

The Twins got three back in the third on Harmon Killebrew's 420-foot triple, a base on balls, and doubles by Earl Battey and Pascual. Doubles by Allison and Jim Lemon, a hit batter and singles by Billy Martin, Bill Tuttle and Pascual, got three more in the sixth.

Maris' Hit Beats Angels In 10th, 5-4

New York Cops 6th In Row; Luis Arroyo Posts 10th Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — A leadoff double by Tony Kubek and a single by Roger Maris brought New York a 5-4, 10th-inning victory over the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday night as the Yankees won their sixth in a row and retained a three-game lead in the American League race.

Starter Eli Grba and losing reliever Art Fowler (5-5), who took over in the ninth, had held the Yanks to four hits until the 10th. Elston Howard collected two of New York's hits, one a two-run double as the Yanks scored three runs in the first inning. Their third hit of the game, Yogi Berra's solo 15th home run in the sixth inning, had tied it 4-all.

The Angels, who now have lost all seven games they've played at Yankee Stadium, came from behind with a pair of two-run innings against starter Bill Stafford. But Hal Reniff and winner Luis Arroyo (10-3), then blanked them on one hit over the last 4 2-3 innings.

Arroyo struck out five in his three frames — fanning Leon Wagner, George Thomas and Joe Koppe in the 10th.

Play At The Plate Starts Fireworks

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A wild, free-for-all broke out between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Phillies in the sixth inning of the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday night and when order was finally restored police were stationed at each dugout.

The brawl, with practically every member of each team involved, was marked by more than a half dozen individual fist fights and wrestling matches.

The fracas started in the bottom half of the inning with the Pirates leading 2-1. Clay Dalrymple singled and Tony Gonzalez attempted to score from second with the tying run but was tagged out by catcher Hal Smith as he slid into the plate.

Smith then tagged Gonzalez again, harder, and the two started tussling with both dugouts emptying.

Players also ran in from the bullpens as the free-for-all continued between home plate and the grandstands.

When the umpires finally restored order after about 10 minutes, the Phillies announced they were playing the game under protest.

Smith was the first batter for the Pirates in the seventh but he was retired on a routine play without any incident.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Mickey Wright and Mary Lena Faulk, the year's top money winners among lady golfers, share the favorite's role Wednesday in the opening of the $7,500 Kansas City Women's Open.

Negro Players Are Asked To Shun Roanoke Contest

Seating Segregated For Steelers-Colts Game Saturday

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — Negro players on the Baltimore Colts and Pittsburgh Steelers were asked Tuesday not to participate in an exhibition game here Saturday night because seating in the stadium is segregated.

Rev. R. R. Wilkinson, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he wired the Negro players asking them not to play because "we're engaged here in a fight for freedom, civil rights and justice. . ."

Wilkinson said he had received telephone calls from Lenny Moore of the Colts and the Steelers' John Henry Johnson saying their Negro teammates would prefer not to play.

But Wilkinson quoted both as saying the final decision would rest with the management of their respective clubs.

A Steeler spokesman in Pittsburgh confirmed that four members of the team had received telegrams from the NAACP asking them not to play.

"The players are discussing the telegrams," the spokesman said. "Our players will probably discuss the situation with the Colt players involved before making a decision. Otherwise we have no comment."

The spokesman said John Henry Johnson and Charley Scales, members of the backfield, and linemen John Nisby and Big Daddy Lipscomb received wires from the Roanoke NAACP.

The Steelers have 12 Negro players on their 50-man squad, which has been in training at Slippery Rock, Pa.

Virginia law prohibits the mixing of the races at sporting events, but three Negroes have purchased tickets in the "white section" for Saturday's tilt.

Von Saltza Shoots For Six Titles

California Lass In AAU Swim Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — America's finest woman swimmer, the soon-to-retire Chris von Saltza, will shoot for an unprecedented six titles as she leads the Santa Clara Swim Club in defense of its team championship this week in the National Women's AAU Meet.

The 17-year-old California lass, an Olympic champion, is one of five girls to win five medals. She accomplished her feat last year in this meet, and this year will try to add the 200-meter backstroke title.

She will be defending champion in the meet starting Thursday night at Kelly pool in Fairmount Park in the 100-, 200- and 400-meter freestyle, and as anchorman on Santa Clara's 400-medley and freestyle relay teams.

In 1957 and 1958 she was the 200-meter backstroke titlist but last year surrendered this crown to fellow Olympian Lynn Burke, no longer active as an amateur.

Miss von Saltza won two events in 1957, three in 1958 and four in 1959, before tying the record for victories in one meet last year.

Frostburg Rotary Defeats GOP, 3-2, With Late Rally

The Rotary Club rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth to defeat the Republican Club, 3-2, in a Frostburg Little League game yesterday.

Trailing 2-0 in the sixth the Rotary nine came to life when an error and Rick Kerr's two-bagger put two runners aboard. A single by Phil Colosimo, a sacrifice and Glen Kerr's double completed the winning rally.

The defeat knocked the Republican Club out of second place as the Rotary (8-7) replaced the GOP tossers (7-7) in the runner-up spot.

Larry Sigler, the losing pitcher, had three of his team's five bingles while Glen Kerr had a double and single and Rick Kerr a two-bagger for the Rotary. The results:

Republican Club ..... 101 000—2 5 3
Rotary Club ..... 000 003—3 6 2
Larry Sigler and Danny Edwards, Billy Cutter and Glen Kerr.

Publisher Offers To Finance Tests Of Major Baseballs

CHICAGO (UPI) —A magazine publisher offered Tuesday to sponsor tests to determine whether major league baseballs have changed since Babe Ruth's day.

Joseph R. Buell, publisher of Popular Mechanics Magazine, made the offer in a telegram to Commissioner Ford Frick. Buell offered to arrange and finance tests by an independent laboratory of the composition, manufacture and performance of major league balls today and those of 1926.

"If today's baseball is different, we think fans want that information," Buell said. "On the other hand, if our tests show no significant difference between the old and the new balls, as manufacturers have stated, then that fact will be made public, too."

Buell said the magazine was seeking official major league balls used during the mid 1920's and urged anyone having such balls to contact him.

Little Limey Found Dead At Shenandoah

Green Bay Packers Acquire John Roach

Roach, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound, Southern Methodist graduate who was the Chicago Cardinals third draft choice in 1956, was the club's No. 1 quarterback last season, but went to the Browns earlier this summer.

Arcaro To Ride At Waterford

CHESTER, W. Va. (UPI)—Waterford Park race track, enjoying a banner summer season in both pari-mutuel handle and attendance, is bringing back Eddie Arcaro Aug. 17.

The famous jockey will ride in some of that day's races and also will mingle with some of the guests. He was here for a special "Arcaro Day" program in 1959 and a near-record crowd turned out.

Meanwhile, statistics for the first full month of the current racing meet showed that attendance was up 16 per cent, from 107,235 to 124,132, over last year's summer session. Wagering was up better than 10 per cent, from $6,592,500 to $7,275,620.

Colts Use Matte As Pass Receiver

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Rookie Tom Matte, the Baltimore Colts' first draft choice, is working as a pass receiving halfback at the National Football League team's training camp here.

Matte, who saw action in last Friday's College All-Star game, was on the throwing and running end of the ball while a quarterback at Ohio State.

The Colts probably will carry four offensive halfbacks. Lenny Moore has one slot nailed down, so Matte will be fighting six others for one of the three remaining openings.

The veterans are Alex Hawkins, Mike Sommer and Ed Kovac and rookies are Jerry Hill, Don Kern and Jim Small.

Giants Could Play Spoilers Role

Play Dodgers, Reds Total Of 20 Games

NEW YORK (AP — If the Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds are going to fight it out down to the wire in the National League, the San Francisco Giants could be the spoilers.

With about one-third of the season to go, the Giants have 20 games to play with the one-two clubs, 10 with each. The Giants are not out of the race themselves but they trail by nine after Monday's games with time running out on them.

The Reds hold a 9-3 edge over the Giants and will play Al Dark's team at Crosley Field in seven of their 10 remaining games. The Dodgers, on the other hand, are 6-6 with the Giants and must play six more at Candlestick Park.

Cincinnati and Los Angeles will meet seven times, three in the Coliseum and four in Crosley Field. In their first 15 meetings, the Dodgers hold a slim 8-7 edge.

St. Louis, too, can be a decisive factor. The Cards have 18 with the two top teams, nine with each. But once again the schedule favors the Reds who play the Cards six more times at Crosley Field while the Dodgers must make two trips into St. Louis for six more games.

Roger Maris of the Yankees hit 15 home runs in June, three short of the record.

Defense And Drug Stocks Gain In Irregular Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Aside from gains in defense, drug and scattered miscellaneous issues, stocks made little progress Tuesday.

Turnover, however, rose to a five - session high of 4,050,000 shares from 3,560,000 in the prior session and the market broadened out with 1,289 issues traded —four more than in the prior session and 19 more than a week ago.

Advances narrowly outnumbered declines by 560 to 497 with 63 issues reaching new highs and 10 receding to new lows.

Featuring among the D-J industrials included Alcoa off 1⅛, Eastman Kodak up 1⅛, Johns-Manville up 1½, Standard Oil of California off 1⅜, Union Carbide up a point, and United Aircraft up 1¼.

Investor attention was primarily drawn to the beneficiaries of the nation's stepped up defense program as eight issues with a large proportion of military sales showed up in the 15 most active list. They were General Dynamics up 2⅛, Douglas Aircraft unchanged, AVCO up ⅝, Sperry Rand up ¾, Lockheed up 1⅝, Fairchild-Stratos up ⅛, Boeing up ⅜ and Magnavox up 1⅞.

A happy face is ALWAYS a pretty face!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Damaged Skin Needn't Mask Inner Beauty

The pits and scars that remain on the face after a severe case of acne may never cut quite so deep as the wounds they leave on a young woman's spirit. She knows that this is the complexion she will have the rest of her life — and that, unlike other skin problems, the marks of acne are almost as impossible to cure or cover up completely as they are to accept in quiet resignation.

To women with post-acne problems, I repeat most sincerely: Beauty is more than skin-deep. And, on the surface, there is much she can do to help herself.

Dermatology has been experimenting for years with various methods of improving permanently damaged complexions. Not all are generally accepted nor can they be recommended in every case — but they are worth discussing with a competent doctor. Even a small improvement is encouraging enough to restore poise and confidence.

In qualified hands, X-ray therapy, ultraviolet ray treatments or surgery performed with sandpaper or an electric brush may produce a noticeable degree of difference in the skin surface and make the marks easier to mask with makeup. In some cases, doctors may also advise brewer's yeast and extra Vitamin A, as well as special medicated salves, to forestall future skin trouble.

Light pitting will usually respond to camouflage with carefully applied makeup. Heavier scarring and outsize pores are less easy to disguise. It is well worth having a consultation with a professional cosmetician, to work out an effective makeup pattern for the post-acne complexion. It is also wise to use products prepared especially for sensitive or allergic skin . . . and to avoid preparations containing lanolin. Creams containing cholesterol instead are an effective substitute.

Just for experiment, here is one makeup pattern — the double-layer—that may screen badly damaged skin very well indoors and in bright lights. In my opinion, it is too heavy and artificial for outdoor wear, but each woman can make up her own mind on this.

Apply a complete liquid foundation to the face and neck. Add rouge, then powder the face as usual. Now, with a damp sponge, cover this first layer with a thin coat of cake makeup in the same shade. Let it set a half-minute, then blot dry carefully with tissue. You can then do any necessary touching-up to the cheeks or the eye makeup and add your lipstick.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had a very humiliating experience and I would like you to tell me if I am right or wrong to feel insulted.

I've been on the heavy side all my life. Diets and exercise wear me out so I don't bother with them. I wear dark, conservative, well-cut dresses and no one could guess my weight within 25 pounds. Even my husband doesn't know how much I weigh.

Last night we visited some old friends who just refurnished in French Provincial. I was just about to sit down when the hostess rushed over to me and in a voice that could be heard in the next block said "Please, don't sit in that chair. It's an antique and not very strong!"

I took another chair but I was really burned up. My husband says I am too sensitive. I say the hostess was cruel and used terrible judgement. Am I right? —DEEPLY HURT

DEAR DEEPLY: Sorry, but I agree with your husband. "Pleasingly plump" people should know that antique chairs are not for them. If they don't—they should be told. And you were.

Would you have been less humiliated if the chair had collapsed under you? I figure the hostess did you a favor.

DEAR ANN: My sister passed away four months ago and her husband asked me to take their 14-year-old-boy temporarily. I was happy to do it. We have a son 12 and a girl nine. The three children get along well together and I enjoy having "a second son."

The boy's father told me last night he is going to marry a girl who works for him. The son does not like this girl because, I'm sorry to say, he conducted a rather open affair with her while his wife was alive and it caused much unhappiness in the family. The father wants the son to come home to live and the boy wants to stay with us.

My husband feels the boy should go with his father and learn to live with his problem. I say no. What do you say? —A. L.

DEAR A. L.: A boy 14 is old enough to decide where he wants to live. I hope his father will permit him to stay with you.

If the father insists that the boy come home, he will, of course, have to obey. But don't rent his room, Auntie. I'll bet he'll be back.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Next month one of my best girl friends is getting married. I was asked to be in the wedding ceremony.

I have invited a certain fellow to be my date for the wedding. He is rather new in town and has not yet met the bride or groom. I got permission from both of them to have him as my escort, and I'm sure we'll all be getting together before long.

The question is, do you think the fellow should pay for half of my wedding gift so it can be from both of us? Please advise. — SEVENTEEN

DEAR SEVENTEEN: Pay for the wedding gift yourself. The fellow is accommodating you by escorting you. Don't burden him with this financial matter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FAMILY BONDS: Sounds like bats in the hatches to me. If you move into that squirrel cage you'll regret it.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ridgeley Fire Causes Damage To Bedrooms

Flames Burn Through Roof

A fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon swept through three second-floor bedrooms of a two-story frame dwelling along West Virginia State Route 28 near the southern edge of the town limits of Ridgeley.

Extensive fire and water damage was caused to the home occupied by Mrs. Frank Coleman and her son George.

About 16 volunteer firefighters of Ridgeley fought the stubborn blaze, which had a good start. Fire Chief George Hartman said the flames burned through a couple sections of the roof.

He said when the volunteers arrived on the scene about 2 p. m. flames and smoke were coming out of the windows of the bedrooms.

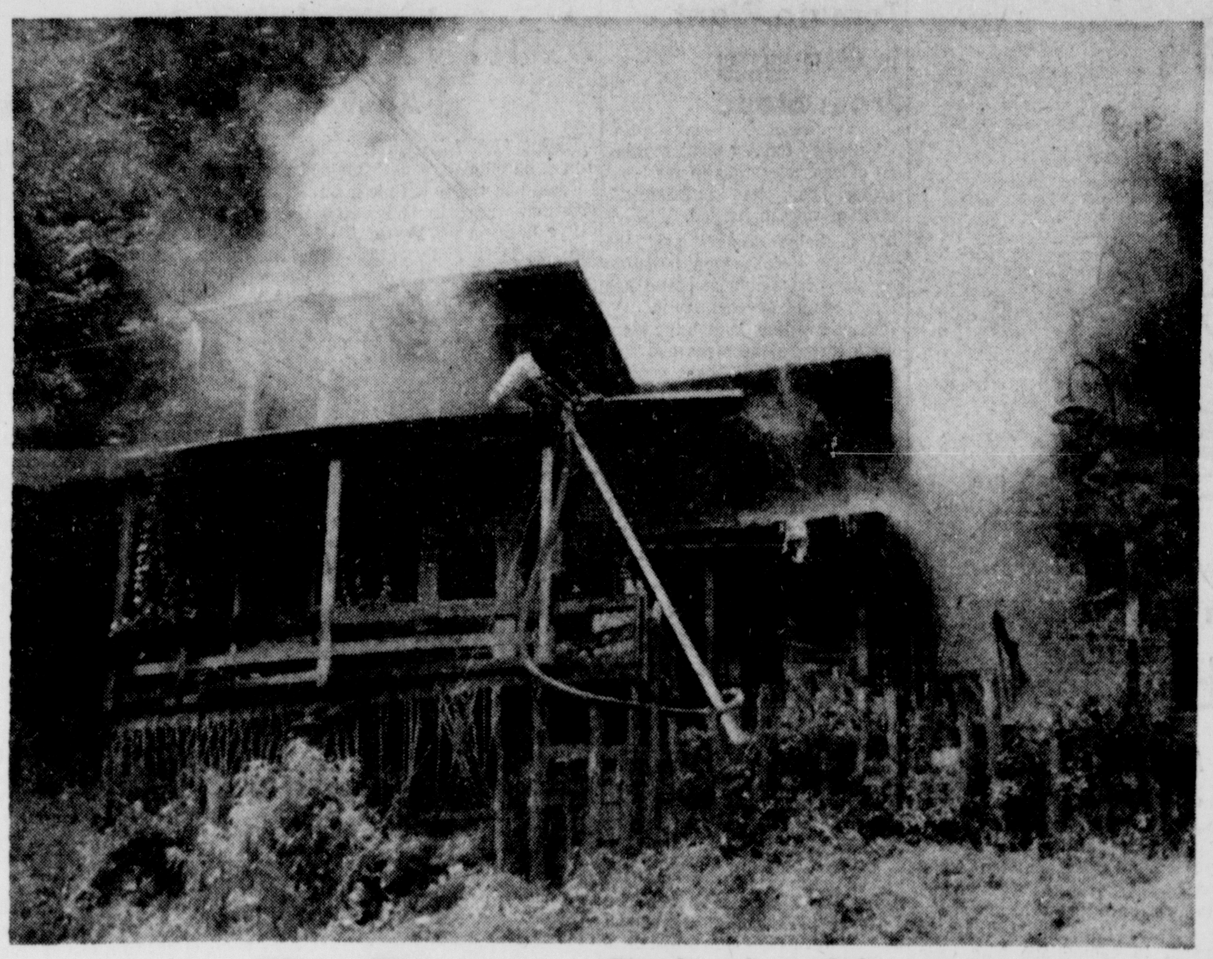
A two-and-a-half-inch hose was connected to a nearby hydrant and water was poured into the burning rooms. Considerable water damage was caused to the first floor. The fire chief said a television set and another piece of furniture were carried from the dwelling, which reportedly is covered by insurance.

Fire Chief Hartman said no one was reported to have been upstairs when the fire started and it is not known how it originated.

Mrs. Coleman's grandchild, who was visiting her at the time, ran across the highway to the home of Anna Malamphy and said the house was on fire.

The Malamphys summoned the volunteer firemen. The siren was sounded twice, according to the fire chief, who pointed out that the second alarm was to alert firemen who relieved those who were the first on the scene and had to report to their regular jobs on the 3 o'clock shift.

The blaze was witnessed by a number of local residents who got a view of it from Thomas Street in South Cumberland.



Fire Damages Ridgeley Home

Volunteer firemen of Ridgeley are shown fighting a stubborn blaze which yesterday afternoon damaged the five-room, two-story frame dwelling occupied by Mrs. Frank Coleman and her son George, on Route 28 near the southern edge of the town limits of Ridgeley. The blaze was confined to three upstairs bedrooms of the home, which was also damaged by water.

C&P Plans Addition At Flintstone

Work on a building addition to the Flintstone exchange of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company will be started by Saturday, according to Robert G. Garner, local manager.

The building, which will cost $35,000, is expected to be completed by November 5 and the new equipment will be in operation by January 13, 1962, improving service in the exchange, Mr. Garner said.

The addition will make the building about twice its present size and will house additional switching equipment for the Flintstone area. It will be constructed by the George Construction Company.

Along with the building of the addition about 12 miles of cable is being placed from Flintstone east along Route 40. The new cable will provide facilities for new subscribers and will replace the existing open-wire leads, improving service for present customers.

Total cost of the two jobs will be $54,800.

LaVale To Make Proposal For Sewage Service

Subject Explored With City Heads

The Mayor and Council last night invited the LaVale Sanitary Commission to submit a proposal for having sewage from LaVale treated at the Cumberland sewage treatment plant.

Chester A. Fisher, chairmnn, said the commission will put its engineers, Whitman, Requardt and Associates, to work and come up with a proposal.

He added that if costs were pro-rated equitably there would be a saving to both LaVale and Cumberland, since overhead and operating costs of the plant would be less if it were operated near capacity.

City officials promised the proposal will be considered, both from an engineering and financial standpoint.

Will Consider

It is within the realm of possibility, a city spokesman said, that a plan can be worked out "so both can save some money."

Members of the commission met last night to explore the possibilities of having LaVale's sewage treated here, rather than build separate treatment facilities.

It was agreed, at the start of the meeting, that the Cumberlan- plant is large enough to meet the needs of both communities, and is was tentatively agreed, subject to engineering opinion, that the city's sewer mains are large enough to take care of the extra flow.

Cumberland's plant, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said, can treat twice as much sewage as it is now.

She commented, early in the session, that the question of rates would need a real study.

Must Know Soon

LaVale must know at least tentatively before long, city officials were told, or it will have to design its own plant.

The LaVale unit suggested that charges for sewage service should be based on the share of the cost of amortizing the $2,000,000 plant and the cost of treatment.

This would mean that if the plant treated 10,000,000 gallons of sewage daily, and 2,000,000 of it came from LaVale, the commission's share would be one-fifth of the cost of amortization and operation.

In response to a query from John J. Long, it was explained that a treatment plant for LaVale would cost about $500,000, or about $170,000 more than the estimated cost of hooking up to the Cumberland system.

The estimated annual payment to Cumberland for treating LaVale sewage, based on the community's share in amortization and operating costs, it was explained, would be about $29,600.

The sharing of costs, City Attorney William R. Carscaden said, "is a matter of policy to be decided by the Mayor and Council."

Cites Policy

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the only way he would be interested would be to see LaVale come into the city limits, and then the rates would be 75 per cent of water bills.

Since 1958, the City of Cumberland has refused to allow sewage taps to non-residents, and is providing water in contiguous areas only if customers agree to sign annexation petitions.

At this point, both Commissioners Roeder and Long suggested that the Mayor and Council be allowed to study the proposal.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Commissioners Roeder, Light and Long and Mr. Carscaden attended for the city.

Franklin Street Base Will Be Laid Today

The Hout Construction Company plans to begin laying the soil-cement base for the Franklin Street widening project today, according to Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Crews are slated to begin the installation at 8 a.m. as the soil-cement mixture moves from the Corriganville quarry.

James Willison, representing the Portland Cement Association, was here yesterday helping quarry crews to calibrate the plant, and will remain here to supervise the work.

The Hout company during recent weeks has installed a storm drainage system for the block-long project, and has laid concrete sidewalks and combination curbs and gutters for the area.

The base will consist of a four-inch blanket of crushed stone which is already in place, and two four-inch layers of soil cement.

The soil-cement base will consist of fine crusher run stone and cement in the proportion of one bag of cement to a ton of stone, mixed with water at the quarry.

Soil cement was used last year for two residential streets, which received a six-inch base. Two additional inches will be used on Franklin Street due to the heavy truck traffic.

The Cumberland Contracting Company will complete the street later with a two-inch wearing course of blacktop.

Big Cat Dozes While Owner Has Lunch Date

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—As William Shepard, a parking lot attendant, put it with considerable logic: "Who would look for a lion in a car?"

So no particular attention was aroused Tuesday when a lion arrived at the lot on 33rd Street across from Pennsylvania station in a cream-colored Cadillac. The lion wasn't driving, of course, he was sleeping in the back seat.

Eventually, however, somebody did spot the lion and began staring at it. The lion awoke and stared back. Another lot attendant, Joseph Pizzigoni, 24, took a look too and later reported: "I never expected to see a lion sitting in a car, so I ran and called police."

The law responded. So did a truck from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The car doors were closed but not locked and ASPCA agents shoved a pail of fresh water into the back seat where the
